U.S. Steel Plants Shut Down

750,000 Workers Stage Walk-out

By J. ROBERT SHUBERT
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21—(BUP)—The U.S. steel production was choked to a negligible trickle today as 750,000 CIO United Steel Workers struck in 30 states in the largest walkout in history.

THE STRIKE was called after management refused to accept President Truman's proposal of a wage increase of $1.48 a day. Operators, headed by giant United States Steel Corp., offered $1.20.

After the failure of the President's 11th hour intervention in the wage dispute, the union's once-postponed strike call became effective at one minute after midnight.

More than 1,200 plants were closed. Virtually all had banked furnaces and shut down mills in anticipation of the walkout. Some were closed as early as a week before the deadline by premature walkouts. Local grievances and disagreements over maintenance arrangements for the shutdown were blamed for the early walkout.

THE U.S. STEEL CORP. estimated the strike would cost the

TODAY IN EUROPE

LONDON.—Despite their overwhelming victory in the recent elections the Communist junta which runs Jugoslavia is still plainly apprehensive lest some effective opposition to their regime should crystallize. The two main bodies which might prove troublesome are the Catholic Church and the Croatian Peasant Party. I described, the other day, the new campaign which the Communits have initiated against the Church. The Croatian Peasant Party is also being carefully sterilized to render it impotent as a possible opposition force.

FOUNDED BY the two brothers Radic some forty years ago this famous political party represented the peasants and also was the leading Croatian separatist party in the days when Croatia formed a part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. Seven Aboard Missing RCAF Dakota Plane

VANCOUVER, Jan. 21.—(CP)—All available aircraft of Western Air Command are searching the 130 miles of mountainous terrain between Cranbrook, B.C., and Cowley, Alta., for a missing RCAF Dakota aircraft with a crew of seven, officials of Western Air Command here Rowe, Ottawa (C).

The twin-engined plane was on a flight from Vancouver to Winnipeg and was last reported passing over Cranbrook at 3:25 a.m. (MST) Saturday. It was scheduled to arrive in Winnipeg at 8 a.m. (CST).

WAC SAID THE machine never cleared the radio range at Cowley and officials believe it may be down in some of British Columbia's most rugged terrain.

Aircraft from Calgary and Lethbridge also are reported to have joined in the search.

Standing by in the event the missing plane is located in some inaccessible spot is a parachute squadron and experienced Canadian Army mounted troops who would be rushed to the scene.

WESTERN AIR COMMAND announced personnel aboard the plane were: FO. R. H. Watt, pilot, Winnipeg; FO. W. J. Woods, Win-

Packers Discuss Plan of Action

Possible plans of action open to local members of the United Packinghouse Workers of America in their current argument with packing plant management were discussed at a joint executive meeting, held by local union officers on Friday night.

THE UNION IS requesting that the ruling handed down by Mr. Justice S. E. Richards, in his settlement of last fall's packing house dispute, be re-interpreted by the same commission. The ruling established the 45-hour work week for packinghouse workers, but union members claim that hours of work, on a daily basis are being unfairly manipulated.

Proposals by plant managers which have been made at union meetings across Canada were framed by L. A. Forsyth, Montreal lawyer and were rejected by all union meetings across the country.

Terrorists Blow Up Coast Guard Station

New Violence Flares in Troubled Palestine

By ELIAV SIMON
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

JERUSALEM, Jan. 21—(BUP)—Saboteurs blew up a coast guard station at Givat Olga, halfway between Telaviv and Haifa, last night injuring 14 British soldiers and one British policeman, authorities announced today.

THE NEW VIOLENCE, blamed by police on members of the Jewish resistance movement, occurred while troops and police still were investigating outbreaks which caused four deaths in Jerusalem Saturday.

A British announcement said a number of arrests had been made in connection with the explosion and police-military operations were continuing.

THE SABOTEURS were believed to have taken advantage of police and troop pre-occupation with the Saturday riots, blamed on the Irgun Zvai Leumi terrorist organization, to strike in the north.

The coast guard station had been blown up once before—last November. Authorities said the explosives apparently were planted while workmen were repairing damage of the previous explosion.

Reinforced troops and police, in extensive raids through Jerusalem Sunday, discovered what was believed to be main headquarters for the terrorists.

INFORMED SOURCES said the raiders uncovered a large cache of arms and ammunition, including bombs and grenades, and found a suspected terrorist wounded.

The city was quiet again today and it was believed authorities soon

Plan Announced

New Method For Payment Vet Benefits

OTTAWA, Jan. 21—(CP)—Veterans' out-of-work benefits will be paid through offices of the unemployment insurance commission after Feb. 1, Veterans Minister Mackenzie announced today.

THE PLAN had been evolved through an arrangement between the veterans and labor departments to speed the servicing of Canadian veterans. Mr. Mackenzie recently urged veterans to apply for out-of-work benefits rather than use their gratuities for living expenses while they were seeking jobs.

"After Feb. 1 if the ex-service man qualified for out-of-work allowances under the veterans rehabilitation act and lives in one of Canada's larger cities he will receive a weekly voucher at a national employment office which he can cash on the premises," Mr. Mackenzie explained. "In the smaller centres he will receive a warrant which he can cash at any bank."

AFTER RECEIVING his initial voucher the veteran can continue to call weekly at the nearest national employment service office and obtain his allowances so long as he remains unemployed and can qualify. As far as possible the present unemployment insurance administrative machinery will be used to expedite payment of allowances.

The benefits amount to $50 a month for a single man and $70 for a married man, with additional allowances for children.

Two Women Dead In Hit-Run Cases

TORONTO, Jan. 21—(CP)—Two women were fatally injured when struck by automobiles that failed to stop in separate accidents on Toronto streets Saturday night. The dead women, both of Toronto, are Mrs. Mary Godfrey, 64, and Mrs. Ethel Franzman, 50. Arthur R. Lang, 26, of suburban Forest Hill village, was arrested at his home following the accident involving Mrs. Godfrey.

For Teachers

Veterans Score Alberta School Trustees' Plan

The recent proposal, made by the Alberta School Trustees' Association convention, recommending the abolition of the continuous contract and the board of reference for teachers in this province, came under the fire of war veterans now enrolled in the faculty of education at the University of Alberta. A resolution was passed unanimously at a mass meeting during the week-end vigorously opposing the recommendation and terming it "an attack upon one of the fundamental rights for which we fought overseas—namely security."

A NUMBER OF VETERANS, some with ten or more years of teaching experience prior to their war service, outlined the strenuous efforts which had been made by the Alberta Teachers' association since its inception to achieve the provisions of the continuous contract and the board of reference.

It was pointed out that at the present time a teacher who is doing a good job is guaranteed the security of a continuous contract which does not have to be renewed each year, and enjoys the further security of knowing that he will not be fired at the "whim" of a school board.

THE BOARD MUST give adequate reasons for such dismissal,

Steel Strike Will Affect Canadians

TORONTO, Jan. 21.—(CP)—G. P. Wilbur, manager of the Dominion Bridge Company plant here, said today that exhaustion of reserves of United States-made steel in Canada, as a result of a strike in the U.S. steel industry, will make for layoffs of Canadian workmen.

Even buildings in which heavy U.S.-made beams are required also use great quantities of Canadian steel, and if the U.S. steel cannot be obtained, Canadian steel cannot be used, he said.

RALPH C. MANNING, chief engineer of the Canadian Institute of Steel Construction, said the strike will have a tendency to slow up post-war reconstruction and building in Canada.

The fact there is a strike will react through hesitation on the part of companies planning to build in Canada.

In Message to Congress

Lower-Cost Goods, Higher Wages Proposed by Truman

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(CP)—President Truman today sent Congress a 25,000-word message declaring American peace policy must rest "upon justice no less than upon power" but emphasizing that the United States will refuse to sacrifice "its ideals or its vital interests" when difficulties arise among the United Nations.

THE MESSAGE, containing an unprecedented number of legislative requests, asked congress to get behind a sweeping program the President said will promote greater output of lower cost goods by higher paid workers.

The document combined for the first time a report on the "state of the union" and budget recommendations.

The bulk of the legislative requests comprised a list of 21 major enactments Mr. Truman recommended in vain in successive messages to Congress during his eight months in office and many new ones the President feels necessary to carry the country through this "year of decision."

THE MESSAGE estimated expenditures during the next fiscal year, starting July 1, at $35,860,000,000 compared with $67,229,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

Mr. Truman, however, said he can recommend no further tax cuts at this time.

The message announced a special request would be sent to Congress for approval of the agreement to

Call For 250,000 Low-Rent Homes

WINNIPEG, Jan. 21.—(CP)—The Winnipeg council of the Labor Progressive Party was on record today as calling for the Federal Government to raise a $1,000,000,000 loan for the purpose of slum clearance and erection of 250,000 low-rental housing units within the next five years.

A resolution to that effect, sponsored by William Ross, provincial organizer, was adopted at a public meeting here yesterday. He said the federal government should advance 90 per cent of the cost of homes at three per cent interest on a long term loan of about 40 years.

THE MEETING also passed a resolution condemning the commutation of the death sentence passed on Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer, and decided a copy of the resolution would be sent Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Youths Arrested For Bank Robbery

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 21.—(CP)—Two Toronto youths, Murray Lawrence, 17, and Fobert Lance, 16, were arrested and charged Saturday night with break-in and theft in connection with a burglary Friday night at the Bank of Nova Scotia Branch at Markham. Provincial traffic officer John Sheffield of Dundas claimed to have found in a search of their car more than $1,000 in nickels and dimes, Victory Bonds worth $49,000 and a quantity of jewelry, alleged loot from the Markham bank.

Charges France, S. Africa Flaunt UNO Trusteeships

By R. H. SHACKFORD
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Jan. 21.— (BUP) —Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand today accused France and South Africa of treating the UNO trusteeship charter as a "scrap of paper" by trying to keep their old League of Nations mandates from control of the new world organization.

FRASER WAS CHEERED and applauded loudly as he told the UNO general assembly that both France and South Africa had clearly implied that they intended to annex the mandates given them by the League rather than turn them over to UNO trusteeship.

His accusation was made in the course of an impassioned appeal to all mandatory powers to recognize as a matter of national honor their obligation to convert their

Dismiss Appeal

Temperance Act Validity Upheld By Privy Council

TORONTO, Jan. 21.—(CP)—The Toronto Daily Star said today in a despatch from London that the privy council had upheld the validity of the Canada Temperance Act.

THE RULING was made in the Empire's highest court in dismissing an appeal by the Province of Ontario, which argued that the act had been improperly re-enacted in 1927 and that the privy council's original ruling in 1882 was wrong. The province argued that control of liquor should lie within the jurisdiction of the provinces and not the Dominion.

Viscount Simon delivered the decision of the five-man tribunal which said in part that "the decision has stood for 60 years . . . and it is impossible now to depart from it."

THE DECISION added that while their lordships did not wish to discuss the British North America Act's provisions concerning Dominion and provincial fields of legislation "so far as the Canada Temperance Act is concerned the question must be considered as settled once and for all."

The Ontario government, backed by the governments of Alberta, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick, made the appeal to the privy council Dec. 3 against the validity of the long-contested Act.

ONTARIO ASKED a final decision to make the Ontario Liquor Control Act binding on all parts of the province, except in those areas which declare for local option by a three-fifths vote.

Iran Premier Resigns Post

TEHRAN, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Premier Ibrahm Hakimi of Iran resigned last night after stating his efforts to negotiate with the Russians over Azerbaijan had failed.

Hakimi's fall was foreshadowed last week when he told parliament that his foreign policy had failed. He said efforts to negotiate with the Russians were unavailing and that he proposed to present the case to the United Nations organization.

TODAY HAKIMI said he had told the Shah he had "succeeded in placing Iran's case before the United Nations organization and I am now ready to step down."

Blaze Above Cafe

Damage May Reach $5,000 In Fire on Jasper Avenue

Damage which may reach as high as $5,000 was caused by a fire which swept the second floor of 10041 Jasper avenue at noon Monday. Back wall and ceiling of the second floor were heavily damaged while smoke and water caused a large loss to the Pan American cafe below.

FIRE WAS FIRST noticed by two soldiers eating in the cafe, who observed smoke seeping down from the second floor. Dan Mah, proprietor of the eating establishment, ordered a member of his staff to turn in an alarm, while the remainder cleared the premises of the noon hour rush of patrons.

Fire Chief James A. Macgregor stated that the fire started from a gas radiant near the back wall of the second floor. The back wall was completely destroyed by the flames while the greater portion of the ceiling was also a total loss. The remainder of the second floor suffered heavily from smoke and water.

THE CAFE, which occupies the ground floor of the building, was almost full with the noon hour rush. Full and partially consumed plates were abandoned as patrons left hurriedly. A number of customers, who had just finished eating, had a "free meal" as waitresses urged them out of the smoke-filled room.

Considerable smoke damage and some water damage was caused to the cafe. It is believed that water, which flooded part of the basement, may have damaged stocks of food stored there.

FOUR RIGS FROM NO. 2 fire hall laid four lines of hose under the direction of Fire Chief Macgregor. Only one line was used. Full assessment of damage will probably take two or three days as food stocks in the cafe will have to be checked.

Milder Weather Forecast in City

The week-end temperature, which hovered about the clear and cold readings, Monday was taking a turn for the better with the official forecast reading "fair and milder," according to officials at the Dominion meteorological station here.

No snow fell during the week-end, in spite of warnings that it was "in the air." High reading Sunday was 11 above and the low 12 below. Overnight minimum was 4 below and the estimated high for Monday 30 above.

The overall Alberta forecast was in line with the Edmonton weather menu, "fair and becoming a little milder," with the northern part of the province coming into line with the south where semi-balmy weather has been the order during the last week.

Police in Greece Battle Royalists

By GEORGE ANDROULIKADES
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

ATHENS, Jan. 21.—(BUP)—The Greek government imposed rigid martial law in the southern Peloponnesus cities of Kalamata and Sparta today and dispatched motorized forces to subdue any uprising by the monarchist "X" organization that has cost 60 lives.

Prime Minister Themistocles Sophoulis ordered establishment of court martial with powers to carry out sentences immediately. Arrest of the "X" leaders in the two cities was expected.

THE ROYALIST FORCES have been rampaging since Saturday, when they killed 30 left-wing supporters in a cafe fight, then attacked the Kalamata police station and freed 30 of their own men who had been arrested.

Former members of ELAS, the military force of the left-wing EAM movement were fighting beside the police against the Royalists. Police and soldiers guarded the prison where many ELAS men who fought in the 1944 civil war are detained.

At least one attack against the prison by X men bearing tommy-guns was repulsed.

Price Ceiling Some Imports To Be Altered

OTTAWA, Jan. 21—(CP)—A new price policy on imported goods, designed to facilitate entry into Canada of goods which normally would be excluded by the price ceiling, was announced last night by the prices board.

THE NEW PROCEDURE will result in some addition to the supply of consumers goods available in Canada, the board said. Most of the goods affected are specialty goods which Canadians have forgone for the last six years.

The new pricing policy will apply only to goods entered at customs on or after Jan. 21, and will not result in any change in maximum prices of goods imported before that date.

GOODS AFFECTED will come mostly from allied countries where price increases resulting from war ravages have forced the price beyond the basic rates set by the price ceiling. The new procedure is aimed at establishing prices on such goods at rates which will make their importation possible.

The procedure will not apply to goods which are eligible for subsidy nor to goods purchased in bulk from time to time by the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation Ltd.

THERE HAS BEEN no change in the routine for establishing maximum prices, and importers still will be required to make application for the fixation of maximum prices. The goods will be priced on a basis which will permit their importation, but importers and others handling such goods will not be given normal marks-ups "but will be required to accept a squeeze," said the board's statement.

Such goods may appear to be high-priced, the statement added, but it is not expected any effective increase in the cost of living will result. Insofar as such goods are comparable with domestic goods they will meet domestic price competition.

Countries to which the pricing procedure will apply are: The United Kingdom, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Norway, Luxembourg, Poland, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania, Russia, Czechoslovakia, China, British India, Burma and Ceylon.

NEW POLICIES IMPORT SUBSIDIES

OTTAWA, Jan. 21.—(CP)—A new statement of policy with respect to subsidies paid on imports by the Commodity Stabilization Corporation, Ltd., was announced last night by Donald Gordon, chairman of the prices board. The policy becomes effective today.

SUBSIDIES were paid on certain classes of imported goods in order that essential consumer goods could continue to be imported and sold within prescribed maximum prices. Now, with increasing volume of goods becoming available from foreign countries, a few system of granting subsidies has been devised with a view to restricting subsidy payments.

When imports were necessarily restricted by war, the board laid down a broad statement on classes of goods eligible for import subsidy. This was accompanied by two schedules which listed specifically classes of goods which were ineligible for subsidy and goods which were eligible only if an arrangement for subsidy payments had been entered into with the corporation prior to importation.

ALL OTHER GOODS falling within the broad general classifications were eligible for subsidy.

The new policy is contained in two schedules. The first contains classes of goods which are eligible for subsidy and the second contains classes on which subsidies may be paid only if a prior arrangement has been entered into with the corporation.

All other goods are ineligible for subsidy payments.

THE FIRST SCHEDULE covers goods ranging from fibreboard for use in the manufacture of innersolings, coal and coke and certain textiles to fishing nets and certain leather products.

The second schedule, listing goods eligible for subsidy only if an arrangement has been entered into with the corporation prior to import, ranges from oils and fats for soap or shortening to crude petroleum and certain petroleum products.

Reveal Nazis' Plan To Acquire Foods

By NOLAND NORGAARD

NUERNBERG, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Eager to strip occupied western countries of every scrap of food, even though it might mean famine, Hermann Goering and other Nazi leaders sponsored a huge German purchasing program on black markets in France and other occupied territories, the international military tribunal was told today.

The wild black market spree—into which the Nazis poured billions of francs seized from the French ostensibly to cover occupation costs—reached ludicrous proportions in 1942, with various German agencies bidding against one another, French war crimes prosecutors charged.

GOERING FINALLY intervened with a demand that the black market dealings of the Wehrmacht and other German groups be centralized and "regularized" on a grand scale, the prosecution continued.

The French said they expected to spend the entire week detailing the story of what they called the greatest looting scheme in history, the systematic Nazi seizure of the material wealth of Western Europe.

Trusteeships

mandates into trusteeships controlled by UNO.

HIS STATEMENT APPARENTLY was also an implied rebuke to the United States which has indicated it intends to retain strategic control of the Pacific island mandates wrestled from Japan by American forces.

The trusteeship issue came to the fore after UNO's political and security committee had adopted unanimously the Moscow resolution for establishment of an atomic energy commission.

THE RESOLUTION was adopted 46 to 0. The Philippine Commonwealth delegate was the only member present who abstained from voting. The Philippines raised the only objection to the composition of the proposed commission.

Committee action on the atomic energy resolution was tantamount to final approval. The resolution still requires formal approval by the full assembly before the commission can actually be created. But the same early action appeared assured, since all 51 United Nations were represented on the committee.

SOME OF THE SMALL nations pleaded for a delay in the voting, but they were overruled.

The vote came unexpectedly today after the big powers had appealed for quick action.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin led the campaign for action now. He said the resolution had been circulated for 16 days and no nation had proposed an amendment. If there were further delay, he said, the world would not understand.

"The people of the world may think we are not as serious about this important subject as we should be," he said. "This commission should be set up as soon as possible to begin grappling with its serious problems.

SEN. TOM CONNALLY, D., Tex., opened the debate before the committee with an appeal for quick creation of the commission. He said the Moscow resolution provided the necessary safeguards for atom bomb secrets "at every stage."

Connally, seeking again to put at rest concern among such Americans as Sen. Arthur E. Vandenberg, also a delegate here, repeated for the committee records the statement by Secretary James F. Byrnes.

"It is understood," Connally said, "that matters of safeguards will apply to the recommendations of the commission in relation to every phase of the subject and at every stage. Indeed, at the root of the whole matter lies the problem of providing the necessary safeguards."

CONNALLY TOLD THE committee that the commission must be operated within the framework of the powers conferred on the UNO by the charter. He said it would be authorized to "make recommendations but not to compel action."

Any state would be free to consider, accept or reject any commission recommendation in accordance with its own constitutional processes, Connally said.

"The only known use of atomic energy at present is for mass destruction on a scale unparalleled in the history of warfare," he said. "In view of the transcendent importance of security aspects of the problems raised by the discovery of atomic energy, the resolution provides that the commission shall submit its reports and recommendations to the security council."

HE EXPLAINED THAT the security council would give directions to the commission in matters affecting security, and could restrain the publication of reports detrimental to peace and security.

UNO officials meanwhile were considering how to handle Iran's complaint against Russia, which was submitted officially on Saturday. The security council probably will receive the protest at its next regular meeting.

Members of the security council held an unofficial meeting Sunday night in U.S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' hotel apartment, apparently to discuss candidates for the post as secretary general.

Social Democrats Win Reich Voting

FRANKFURT, Jan. 21.—(BUP)—A final tally on Germany's first free elections since 1933 revealed today that the left-wing Social Democratic party scored a three-to-two popular victory yesterday over the rightist Christian Democrats in the heavily Catholic Rhineland.

Early returns put the Christian Democrats well out in front in the 17 Hessian counties where township councilmen were being elected in communities with populations of 5,000 or less.

THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATS came back strongly in the late balloting, however, and finished up with a popular vote of 146,508 against 99,591 for their principal opponents. The Communists trailed badly in third place with 16,608 votes, although they held a three-to-one margin over the exereme right-wing Liberal Democrats, who tallied 5,662 votes.

Neither the Communists and Liberal Democrats entered complete slates in all the electoral districts.

nation 200,000 tons of steel a day—enough to build 1,750,000 refrigerators.

The Aluminum Company of America also was closed. The aluminum workers union merged with the steel workers in 1944.

Civilian production production administrator John D. Small in Washington termed the walkout a "national disaster." He warned that some of the nation's factories may be forced to shut down within two weeks for lack of steel. Preparations were made for suspension of outstanding steel priorities.

OPERATIONS were limited to small campanies, led by Henry J. Kaiser's Fontana Steel Co. in California, which met the union's demands; firms which held fixed-term contracts with the union, and unorganized plants such as Weirton Steel Co. in West Virginia.

The strike began peacefully. Management officials in Pennsylvania and Ohio, where half the nation's raw steel is produced, reported they were "receiving excellent co-operation from the union" in closing plants.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the Steel Union, returned from Washington to direct activities from the union's international headquarters. Operating headquarters of U.S. Steel are just six blocks away. No conferences were scheduled.

MURRAY was scheduled to make a nation-wide radio speech at 10.30 o'clock tonight over the American Broadcasting company network, explaining the steel workers' side of the wage dispute.

The strike stretched from New England to the Pacific coast; from the Great Lakes to the gulf states of Texas and Alabama. It ranged from the nation's GEALWP 5—Carnegie-Illinois Gary Works—to small workshops employing but a handful.

but can dispense with a teacher's services at the end of any school year if the situation warrants it. If the teacher feels the dismissal is unjust, then he may apply to the impartial board of reference and the case is decided on its merit. Likewise, if the teacher violates his contract, the school board may appeal to the board of reference and have the teacher disciplined.

The meeting felt this was a fair 50-50 proposition. They felt that if the proposal of the trustees was adopted the teachers would be right back where they started from—at the mercy of individual school boards.

"IT IS A DIRECT INSULT to the teaching profession of this province said one veteran teacher, of the trustees' proposal. I have no alternative other than to think that certain trustees are smarting under the knowledge that 'they' do not have the final say in the matter of hiring and firing of teachers." He continued that his experience led him to the definite conclusion that there would be no security whatsoever for teachers if the continuous contract and the board of reference was abolished.

SEVERAL OTHERS SPOKE in this manner, and some expressed the doubt that the government of Alberta would even consider the trustees' proposal, however, it was felt that every precaution should be taken to inform the public of the meaning of this proposal and the effect it would have on discouraging suitable personnel from entering the teaching ranks of this province.

Transport Strike Facing New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(AP)—More than 3,500,000 New Yorkers who ride to work—nearly half the city's population—were confronted today with a threatened tie-up of the city's transportation system.

Such a move, if successful, would be the greatest mass inconvenience ever to hit the day-by-day routine of the United States' greatest city.

MICHAEL J. QUILL, president of the Transport Workers Union (CIO), said a strike date for 32,000 workers who operate the municipally-owned subways, street cars, elevated trains and busses, would be set tonight unless the Board of Transportation accedes to union demands for a referendum on a proposed sale of power plants.

There never has been a complete tie-up of the city's transportation facilities.

without joining a coalition with at least one other major party, probably the Socialists.

THE CONSULTATIVE assembly was expected to meet at 3 p.m. Tuesday to hear DeGaulle's resignation letter read officially. Heads of all political parties will speak in the debate leading to election of a new president.

Communist tactics seemed to be an attempt to form a purely left-wing government with the Socialists and Radical Socialists, headed by a Communist. This would be virtually a revival of the 1936 Popular Front.

Duclos said such a government would be logical, since the Communists were the largest party.

IF THE SOCIALISTS refuse to accept a Communist president, the leading choices for president of a left-wing coalition were former Premier Edouard Herriot, Radical Socialist, and Vincent Auriol, Socialist minister of state.

DeGaulle definitely will retire from politics for the present, observers believed, despite forlorn Popular Republican efforts to change his mind. Many astute observers believed he would remain aloof from politics until the nation grows weary of squabbling and demands his return, presumably after the June elections.

DeGAULLE'S SUDDEN resignation last night precipitated intense manoeuvring by the three largest political parties to find a man with sufficient political and popular support to fill the post he had held since its creation.

DeGaulle held himself outside the crisis he had created. He spent the night at his suburban villa at Neuilly after sending his resignation letter from there to Gouin's office at 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

DeGaulle's resignation was not official until the letter could be read to the consultative assembly. Its contents had not been published more than 12 hours after it was submitted. A broadcast he had scheduled for 8 p.m. today was cancelled.

THE OFFICIAL reason given for de Gaulle's resignation was said to be his refusal to accept a 20 per cent cut in military expenditures demanded by the left-wing parties.

Fundamentally, the resignation was based on a much deeper fight between De Gaulle and the Left-Wing organizations over their efforts to reduce the post of president to a secondary role in the proposed new constitution for the Fourth Republic.

The Communists and Socialists have agreed on the basic constitutional proposals setting up a one-house legislative body with a prime minister closely responsible to it. De Gaulle wants a strong executive, free to deal directly with urgent situations.

Bitter criticism of the government's handling of the food crisis has caused tension within De Gaulle's cabinet recently, with several personal quarrels.

There was a possibility that the assembly might ask De Gaulle to form a new government, as it did successfully last November.

loan Britain $4,400,000,000 (U.S. funds) and suggested the loan would contribute to easing the transition problem of "one of our major partners in the war."

OTHER MAJOR LEGISLATIVE proposals in the international field, both repetitions of earlier requests, were:

1. Repeal of the Johnson Act which prohibits countries in default of First Great War debts to the United States from floating loans.
2. Legislation approving the agreement with Canada for the development of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence River basin.

Among the more controversial old and new legislative proposals were:

1. Extension of wartime powers to enable price, rent and associated controls to be continued or imposed.
2. Establishment of an elaborate system of medical care and disability insurance.
3. LEGISLATION FOR THE creation of fact-finding boards to operate in labor management disputes and provide a 30-day "cooling off" period before resort to strikes.
4. Continuation of food subsidies.
5. A 65-cents-an-hour minimum wage law increasing to 75 cents in two years.
6. Adoption of a permanent fair employment practices commission to ensure against discrimination in employment because of race or color.
7. Extension of selective service if the volunteer system produces insufficient numbers for the armed forces.
8. Unification of the armed services under one department.
9. Universal military training.
10. Pay increases for all levels in all branches of the public services.
11. Enactment of a full employment bill.
12. EXTENSION OF THE franchise to residents of the District of Columbia (Washington) and granting to them a greater measure of self-government. (Residents of the capital have no vote and the district affairs are directed by congressional committees.)

In the "state of the Union" portion of his message, Mr. Truman termed establishment of a "fair wage structure" the "most serious difficulty" in the path of reconversion and expansion, adding:

"Good wages means good markets. Good business means more jobs and better wages . . . substantial wage increases are good business for business because they assure a large market for their products; substantial wage increases are good business for labor because they increase labor's standard of living . . ."

In the sphere of foreign policy, he urged the "greatest dispatch" in the work of the United Nations commission to control atomic energy and expressed "great hope" for development of "mutually effective safeguards" in such control. He said he also believed it possible that the atomic bomb will be outlawed as a war weapon.

ELABORATING ON FOREIGN policy, the president said:

1. When difficulties arise between the wartime allies the United States will not try to remove them by sacrificing its ideals or vital interests; neither will it ignore the ideals and vital interests "of our friends."
2. The United States intends to preserve the voice of smaller nations in the writing of peace treaties with Germany and Japan, as he said it insisted their voice be preserved in the making of peace treaties with Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

Accused Enter Guilty Pleas In Theft Case

Guilty pleas were entered in supreme court, criminal division, Monday by Paul Yarmoloy and Jack S. Johnston, both of Edmonton, to a charge of theft of a buffalo carcass from Elk Island Park, and also by John D. Blake, Edmonton to a charge of theft of $110 from J. W. Pinckston when arraigned before Mr. Justice C. J. Ford.

YARMOLOY AND JOHNSTON were remanded until Monday afternoon for sentence, and Blake until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Trial of Anton Zelman, Athabasca district resident, charged with the murder of Abner Hingley, district trapper, is set for Monday, Jan. 28. Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor is scheduled to hear the case with a supreme court jury. This will be the only jury trial of the January assizes.

THE ALLEGED MURDER of Hingley took place about Oct. 18 last, his charred remains being found in his burned-out shack. It was established at the coroner's inquest that Hingley had been shot several times, and that the shack had been fired in an effort to destroy evidence of the shooting.

Leonard Eckel, Millet district hardware merchant, will go on trial Feb. 4 charged with the manslaughter of Mrs. Christine Coughlin, of this city who died of injuries received when struck by an automobile allegedly operated by the accused. The accident occurred at the intersection of 109 street and Jasper avenue on Dec. 17 last.

A STAY OF PROCEEDINGS was entered in the perjury charge preferred against Jacob Nayhowski, Edmonton. Crown Prosecutor Guy Patterson KC, entered the stay after Nayhowski had pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Stays of proceed also were entered in two charges of breaking and entering preferred against W. T. Moore and Michael Soloniuk. They will go on trial on Wednesday on a charge of breaking and entering the Capitol service station. The stays were entered in charges of breaking and entering the National Blend Tea and Coffee Co., premises, and the premises of the Halford Hide and Fur Co.

WHEN MAGGIE GRECH, Big Meadow, failed to answer to her name the bail bondsmen were called on to "bring her body into court." They also failed to answer, and Mr. Patterson intimated that he would not proceed further with the estreating of bail. He said instructions would be issued to the police to arrest the woman.

She is charged with doing wilful damage to a hayrack, a load of hay and some farm implements by setting fire to a loaded hay rack.

THE BAIL BONDS of George Puder, Sangudo, also were called, but no action taken to estreat the bail. Mr. Patterson said he had received word that the accused was coming from Sangudo by bus and would be in the city later Monday. He asked for leave to speak to the case later in the day.

Ban Is Rescinded Against Brigadier

CANBERRA, Jan. 21—(CP)—The Canberra Trades and Labor Council Sunday lifted its ban against Brig. Derek Schreiber, former chief of staff to the Duke of Gloucester, governor-general of Australia.

The move assured restoration of normal service and deliveries to the Schreiber household. The council acted after Brig. Schreiber's former valet was assured of reinstatement as barman at the Kingston hotel here.

IN PLACING the ban against the brigadier last week the council contended his former valet, ex-corporal E. C. Fields, was fired from the hotel because of what the unionists described as Brig. Schreiber's "influence".

Brig. Schreiber, who was replaced Friday as chief of staff to the governor-general by Maj-Gen. Charles Harvey Miller, denied the council's charge.

German Prisoners Escape to Ireland

U.S. May Seize Packing Plants

WASHINGTON Jan. 21—(BUP)—The U.S. government moved to prevent a nationwide meat famine today by preparing emergency plans for seizure of strike-bound meat packinghouses, possibly by mid-week.

A high government official said seizure appeared the only course for ending the six-day walkout of 300,000 packinghouse workers and building up the nation's meat supply, already down to 25 per cent of normal in many areas. He said no seizure date had been fixed but that it might come tomorrow or Wednesday.

THE NATIONWIDE strike in steel plants, backbone of American industry, also caused grave concern but officials said the government presently had no seizure plan under serious consideration. However, it was said, the picture may change if the strike is still underway a week from now with no sign of a settlement.

Civilian production administrator John D. Small said the United States factories would feel effects of the steel strike immediately and that some might have to close within two weeks for lack of steel.

One top official said President Truman had adopted a firm policy of avoiding seizure except in serious emergencies. He said the meat situation was in the critical stage and that government intervention appeared inescapable.

Russian Occupation Forces Reported Doing Orderly Job In Governing East Germany

By ROSS MUNRO

DRESDEN, Russian Zone, Germany, Jan. 21—(CP)—The Soviet military administration and the Red Army occupation forces appear to be doing a thorough, orderly, efficient job in the Russian zone of Germany.

A FEW RACIAL policies such as land reform are being followed but on the broad lines of the Potsdam agreement for Germany, the Russians are acting basically in the same spirit as the British and American occupation commands in their zones.

The Russians are giving the Germans more responsibility in reconstruction of their zone than is being done in the western zones and German communists hold many key administrative posts.

There does not seem to be any abnormal concentration of Red Army troops and war material in the zone. Possibly there are 10 or 12 occupation divisions which is approximately the same as in the British and American sectors.

THESE ARE SOME of the chief impressions I received in a crowded week's tour through the southern part of the Russian zone to the new western frontier of Poland with the first party of British and Dominion correspondents permitted into the area as Russia further lifted the blackout which has hung over the zone since occupation began.

I found the trip exploded a number of bogeys about the Russians heard in every city of Western Europe. It is a puzzle why the Russians did not lift the news blackout long ago. There is nothing mysterious or alarming going on behind the frontier as far as I could see in a comparitively brief tour.

WITH ONE EXCEPTION we were given complete freedom of movement and could talk to anyone we wished. This series of stories is not censored. Neither was any information given to us ticketed as "off the record."

A request I persistently made throughout the week to visit a Red army occupation division and speak with a formation commander was the only one not met. However, we were able to talk freely with officers and men we met in Dresden and other towns we visited.

The Russians are administering the zone firmly but not harshly and the fair treatment they are giving the civilian population causes the Germans continual amazement. Fed for years on anti-Red propaganda by Goebbels, the Germans fully expected the Red Army to lay the country to waste. The reverse has been Red Army policy and great encouragement has been given the Germans to build up the area on a peacetime basis.

Directs Movement Of Railway Cars

Promoted recently to the post of travelling car service agent for western lines, John McLenna, who has been with the transportation department of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Winnipeg since 1923 when he joined as office boy, travels the west keeping track of all movements and car distribution.

John McLenna

He reports to the transportation department which has often been described as the "nerve centre" of the railroad. Through the department move all records of our movements and locomotive assignments, and it is this department which lines up movements requested by operating, freight and passenger departments. Needless to say the many troop specials bringing Canada's men home from overseas have given the transportation department considerably more work.

John McLenna rose through a number of clerical positions at Winnipeg and last June became acting travelling car service agent, becoming travelling car service agent at January 1st of this year.

Atomic Energy New Challenge To Christians

SASKATOON, Sask., Jan. 21.—(CP)—Development of atomic energy presents a new challenge to the Christian church, M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said here last night.

IN AN ADDRESS prepared for delivery at the evening service at St. John's Anglican Cathedral, Mr. Coldwell spoke of the international effect of successful atomic research.

"Following as it does the cruelest and most terrible conflict in history, it compels us to consider whether those who profess and call themselves Christians can exert that influence of peace, goodwill and human brotherhood which lie at the roots of Christian philosophy," he said.

IT WAS ESSENTIAL that use of atomic power for peaceful means should be planned on an international scale by an international authority.

"Whether we consider the problem from the military or the industrial viewpoint, we are forced to the conclusion that the system of absolute sovereign states has, in fact, become largely obsolete," he said. "Government at the international level has become for mankind not a remote possibility but an immediate problem."

THE RELEASE of atomic energy had changed the whole international picture from that which existed when at the San Francisco security conference smaller powers had been asked to put their trust in the three great powers—Britain, the United States and Russia.

"The application of atomic energy to projectiles of every kind has put an end to the security of the three great powers", Mr. Coldwell said. "Even the greatest of them might be knocked out by a sudden secret attack from a secondary power.

"... Our generation has the obligation of conquering war or of being destroyed, but we have also the opportunity of utilizing the new power for the building of a brighter and a better world than mankind has ever known.

"TO ACCOMPLISH both these ends the masses of the people must be informed as rapidly as possible of the necessity of establishing a world order in which national sovereignty in matters which affect the whole world will be surrendered to a representative people's government at the international level".

Refuse Divulge Request Source In Will Hoax

VANCOUVER, Jan. 21.—(CP)—J. F. Thomson of Medicine Hat, Alta., in an interview here yesterday refused to divulge the source or origin of a request to search for heirs to the $11,000,000 "Ranji" MacWalker" fortune.

THE STORY of the estate, in which millions of dollars were left to charities in Canada's prairie provinces and old-time western railroaders, is believed to have been originated by 76-year-old Robert W. Noble, who died in Kamloops, B.C. last Thursday.

Mr. Noble, regarded as an eccentric, was known to have written dozens of letters weekly and during his lift hit the headlines many times. In many letters he claimed he had fought in five major wars, been shipwrecked five times, struck gold in the Klondyke, offered to take the place of a condemned woman on the scaffold, worked as a clerk for Viscount R. B. Bennett and travelled around the world annually. Some of the letters were released last Friday.

MR. THOMSON, assistant general chairman of the Brotherhood of Maintenance - of - Way Employees (AFL), said that he "never heard of Robert Noble" and added that "as far as our organization is concerned, we are through with the whole affair."

He did say, however, that "the inquiry into the search for heirs was received by the Montreal bureau of information of the Canadian Pacific Railway about January, 1945."

THE INFORMATION, he added, was turned over to the general superintendent's office in Vancouver to help locate old-time railway employees of the Calgary-Laggan (now Calgary-Lake Louise) division of the CPR, mentioned as heirs in the MacWalker will.

Mr. Thomson said the superintendent in Vancouver then turned over the request to his union and "it came to me about February, 1945 and now is in possession of a union official."

He would not say from whom the inquiry was received nor indentify the union official who now has the request.

Eva Braun Bore Hitler Son In Italy in December, 1938

BAD GODESBERG, Germany, Jan. 21.—(Reuters)—Bernard Lescrinier, a German newspaper correspondent in Berlin for 12 years, claimed Sunday a son was born to Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun at San Remo, Italy, on Dec. 31, 1938.

Lescrinier made the claim in a preview of a book he has written called "Behind the Scenes of the Third Reich."

THE NEWSPAPERMAN, of French descent, now is working for the special branch of British field security in the Cologne area.

Lescrinier said he learned of the birth from Dr. Mino Kato, at the time chief Berlin correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper, Nichi Nichi. Kato had checked the report in Munich, home of Eva Braun's father, after learning of the event from the Japanese military attache.

Neither Kato nor other Japanese correspondents who heard of it were permitted to make the story public.

U.S. Man Offers Die In Place Of Jap-Slayer

WALLINGTON, N.J., Jan. 21—(AP)—A 55-year-old Passaic man has written to the family of Pfc. Joseph E. Hiscwa, 20-year-old Wallington soldier under a death sentence for slaying two Japanese civilians, offering to exchange places with the youth.

The letter, received Friday, asked the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hicswa, to "write to the government and ask them if I could take Joe's place".

He asked the family to keep the letter confidential and to withhold his name and address.

The soldier was condemned to death by an army court-martial for the knife-slayings which took place in Nara a day before he was to leave for home on a re-enlistment furlough.

Gen. F. S. Meighen Is Dead in East

MONTREAL, Jan. 21.—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. Frank Steven Meighen, CMG, prominent Canadian industrialist and a soldier of distinction in the First Great War, died suddenly at his home here Saturday. He was 76.

Dean of the board of directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and for many years president of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, Gen. Meighen died at a time when he was preparing to welcome home to Montreal next Friday the Canadian Grenadier Guards which he had led into battle during the other war. He was honorary colonel of the unit.

GEN. MEIGHEN will be accorded full military honors at the funeral service to be held Tutsday.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. A. K. Geddes of Montreal, and two sisters, Mrs. R. W. Reford of Montreal and Mrs. R. Harley of Scotland. His wife, the former Gwyneth Jones, died in 1936.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Conservative prime minister, is a first cousin.

Friendly Partnerships Endure

300 years ago Calvert wrote:
"There was partnership between them"

CALVERT, 17th Century English statesman and famous Secretary of State to King James I, founded colonies in Newfoundland and Maryland 300 years ago.

Early pioneer in fostering mutual understanding between the Old World and the New, Calvert's ideals of partnership, which guided his settlers in 1622, were far ahead of his time.

More than three centuries later, today's great partnership between the British Commonwealth and the United States attests to Calvert's vision.

Partnership between nations will ensure world security

Canada's part in world events today springs from our birthright as Canadians, for we of Canada are best fitted to assure the continued partnership between Britain and America.

Friend and neighbour of the United States, leading member of the British Commonwealth, we can interpret one to the other, draw them even closer together. Thus will Canada's influence at the peace tables of the world contribute much to the security of mankind.

Just In Case

No statement was issued saying what had been done at the meeting of the joint American-Canadian Defence Board at Quebec. None was to be expected. Defence is one subject which cannot be publicized in detail. To announce decisions and plans would be to make these of no value—save to a potential enemy.

The meeting of the Board implies such an enemy. It carries no specific implication as to who the enemy might some time prove to be. But there would be no purpose in maintaining such a body unless defence was conceivably necessary, and defence is never necessary unless an attack is made or threatened.

No country has cause to take umbrage because these two are considering what measures they should take in common or in co-related action in the event that one or other should some day be attacked or threatened. All this means is that these countries are taking forethought as to their own security should the international effort to preserve peace break down.

All countries will do likewise as a matter of course. For much the same reason that a private citizen, while trusting to the vigilance and efficiency of the police force, locks his doors at night.

Moral Controls Needed

Even while the courts were imposing heavier sentences to break up the crime "wave", eight bank robberies were carried out in Montreal within two weeks. The city's chief of police proposes that his men be armed with sub-machine guns, and a drive is on to apprehend the owners of unregistered fire-arms. A psychiatrist blames the current lawlessness there on the lack of parental and society control of youth during wartime.

Whether or not that is the explanation, there seem to be no geographic limits to the crime-trend. It is common across Canada, and throughout the United States. The continental lapse suggests a continent-wide cause, which may well be the relaxing of these family and community influences, which normally are strong factors in maintaining good citizenship.

That these moral forces were relaxed under war conditions is certain, and it is a reasonable assumption that this accounts in large measure for the present "wave" of lawlessness which is sweeping large numbers of boys and young men into the ways of crime.

The moral is obvious. Parents, and the community at large, must take a hand in restoring respect for law in the minds of the younger generation. The police and the courts can't do it without this backing and co-operation.

Federal Money for Subways

Toronto voters, in the proportion of ten to one, approved the plans of the Transportation Commission to build cross-town "tubes" under Yonge street and Queen street. The cost is estimated at about $50,000,000.

Approval by the voters was rather a foregone conclusion, since the city will bear only a minor share of the outlay. The Transportation Commission and the Dominion treasury are expected to supply the bulk of the money, the Commission from surplus earnings and the Dominion as an employment-creating expenditure.

The subway system will be the first in Canada. Visitors will agree that something ought to be done to ease traffic conditions in Toronto's down town area. Putting the cross-town street railway lines under ground will undoubtedly help.

Montreal perhaps excepted, there are not many cities in Canada which are likely to want subway systems in the near future. But that is not to say there are not many cities where subways are wanted and needed—to carry streets under or over railway lines and eliminate dangerous level crossings.

Every considerable centre in Canada has danger points of this kind which should be made safe by "separating the grades". Edmonton has several where subways are needed in the interests of safety as much as traffic on Toronto streets is in need of easement.

If the federal treasury is to supply a good share of the cost of Toronto's subway system, it should deal with corresponding liberality with other cities which desire to construct subways in order to reduce hazards at railway crossings.

Trout Bring Tourists

The Fisheries Board is to investigate the possibilities of developing the fishery resources of the Dominion, mention being made of the Skeena and Fraser rivers, Great Slave Lake, and Arctic waters. This does not of course more than indicate the broad scope on which the board is to plan its operations. The white fish resources of numerous western lakes will, it may be supposed, come in for attention, since fishing in these lakes contributes largely to the nation's food supply and is important commercially.

It is to be hoped the board will also actively interest itself in the stocking and re-stocking of lakes and streams in the Jasper and other mountain parks. Great numbers of tourists visit these resorts in order to try their luck with the elusive trout. This in fact is one of the major inducements held out to prospective visitors. The better the fishing the more tourists will flock to the parks, and the more surely they will return year after year.

The End of Farben

The Farben Industries, Germany's greatest monopoly, is well along in the process of liquidation, according to the head of the economic division of the United States occupation authority. As the headquarters of the organization are within the American zone, the responsibility for dealing with it lay with these officials. The statement given out is that 21 of the 42 major plants have been destroyed or listed for reparations, that the firm's cartel connections have been broken, and that eleven of the directors are in jail.

If this meant only that a German monopoly is being dissolved, the outside world would have relatively little cause to be interested. But Farben was much more than that. By cartel agreements it dictated prices, controlled supplies, allotted exclusive selling areas, in other countries. Its subsidiaries and allies operated internationally to throttle competition in chemicals and related commodities, doled out supplies, thwarted enterprise, and exploited consumers.

A rake-off from these outside operations drained back to Germany and helped to build up Hitler's financial war reserves. That the organization operated also as an influential spreader of Nazi sympathy has been claimed.

The liquidation of this commercial octopus is therefore a matter of real and practical concern to people abroad. The cartel system broken up, many lines of industry outside Germany will be freed from strangling and left to develop on a basis of wholesome competition.

A wave of food riots has broken across Italy. It would have occurred long ago but for the presence of Allied troops, the free spending of their allowance money, and the distribution of relief supplies. This postponed but could not prevent the economic reaction from Mussolini's policy of isolation and aggression. He squandered the country's wealth and destroyed the foreign commerce without which destitution was inevitable.

Administration of Defeated Germany Difficult, But—

The British Way

Wins Respect of Friends and Foes Alike. Soldiers in Reich and Citizens at Home Kept Fully Informed of Progress and Policies

By Dorothy Thompson

The morale of our occupation troops abroad might be better if there were more interest at home in the problems they are having to meet and solve. Interest cannot, however, be increased without information, and that is all but nonexistent. Those, like myself, who have, for professional or other reasons, intense interest in developments in the world, cannot find adequate enlightment in the newspaper reports; we have to extend our knowledge by seeking contacts with returned officers, relief agences, and others.

Dorothy Thompson

IT HAS CERTAINLY been odd for me to discover that I can get a more complete picture of what is going on in Germany from British publications than from our own, and, that as a journalist, I can read, every fortnight, an excellent 20-page magazine called "The British Zone Review" published by the British Control Commission for home consumption, which throws much light on problems and how they are being met. This publication makes clear how great, and fascinating they are, and must, I think, successfully enlist the interest of the British public in the great peace task they have undertaken, and their pride in achieving victory here, as well as in war.

An article in the December 8th issue represents the work in the British zone as the responsibility of all the British people.

"Administration," it says, "begins at home . . . This problem of controlling Germany is no matter which can be left to a collection of experts, chosen by another body of experts, to perform a set of allotted tasks. It has confronted and baffled Europe for a thousand years . . . The responsibility will be assigned, ultimately, not merely to ourselves (the occupation forces) but to the whole British nation."

BUT IF A WHOLE nation bears responsibility for success or failure, the whole nation must know what is being done, by whom, and why. We have chosen to leave it to the experts without even knowing who the experts are, what their basic attitudes are, and whither their policies are leading.

In "The British Zone Review" I can read about the purposes, and methods of re-education; about medical, social, and food conditions; about the extent of industrial recovery in the Ruhr; about the nature and incidence of crime; about the new trade upion setup, and even (the paper being English) about bird life!

Can any American gain access every fortnight to similar information about the American zone? We knew what our men were doing during the war. Do we now? And if we did, could we not correspond with them more intelligently, increase their interest by indicating our own, and bolster their dignity by our realization that the tasks of peace are as great and more difficult than those of war?

WHAT, FOR INSTANCE, is our policy toward German trade unions? Is it true, as I have heard prominent American labor leaders vehemently assert, that the framer of policy in this field is Sidney Hillman, that he has successfully prevented the creation of independent unions, that he has played policy to prevent former Social Democratic leaders from recovering a vestige of authority, and that in his opinion, the pattern for all Germany, in regard to labor, should wait upon that set in the Russian zone?

Is it true, as American labor circles also assert, that the Cartel Division which has access to all information about German industrial firms, structures, and financing, and initiates policies regarding what should be retained, what dismantled, and which 25 per cent given over to the Russians, is in charge of Colonel Bernie Bernstein a strong supporter of Mr. Morgenthau's extreme views, while his chief deputy, Russell Nixon, former Washington representative of the United Electrical Workers, has the closest connection with the American communists, and that both the cartel and finance divisions have American communists or close sympathizers in influential positions.

Is it true that we are initiating in Germany, in connection with de-Nazification, policies which assume that the only resistance to Naziism came from the extreme left, and that we snub, and in one case at least, have even put in jail middle-class resisters, some of whom were at the very centre of the anti-Nazi underground movement?

Is it true, finally, that as the result of policies for which Moscow-first gentlemen in our own staffs are responsible, a revolt is brewing among anti-Nazi religious leaders who are not willing to exchange one anti-Christian tyranny over the lives and consciences of their flocks for another, and that within our occupational institutions there are bitter ideological struggles for power?

I DO NOT MAKE charges. I only report that they are being made by Americans of reputation for honesty and immediate access to information, and that for the American citizen no reports, half as candid as those which reach the British people, are available, nor is there anything like as much control exercised by American public opinion over policies in the American zone as there is by British public opinion in their zone.

* * *

THIS MAY, in part, account for the disaffection of American troops, and for the indubitable fact that while German respect for the British is rising, respect for Americans is waning toward zero.

Hitler's Bombers Sought Her Destruction, But—

H.M.S. Victory Still There

And on Trafalgar Day Lord Nelson's Immortal Signal Once Again Flies From Her Signal Halyards

By Charles Stuart in London Calling

A pensioner who had helped with the re-rigging of HMS Victory (we will call him Fred) took me forrard between leashed muzzle-loaders along the lower gun-deck for a view of the bomb damage. We trod legendary planking, caulked and re-caulked down seven generations: a floor of brown oak seamed with tar. Fred opened a door at the end of the deck. We entered a white-painted passage lighted by an electric candle inside a horn lantern.

This, said Fred, was the passage to the gunner's store. It pleasantly resembled a remote corridor in some coaching inn. A copper warming pan and a pair of hunting prints would not have been out of place on its walls. But the passage ended abruptly. We came to a ragged gap, railed off. I looked down over the rail into the gloom of the forehold and saw a wide hole in the ship's bottom, with raw daylight flooding in. Through the hole I could see the lower steps of the dry dock, with bits of rusty repair scaffolding and one of the steel frames that form the ship's cradle.

"It was a 500-pounder that done it, sir", said Fred. "It happened one night in March 'forty-one. Bomb came a bouncing down the dock steps. Delayed action she was. Went off with a wallop, I can tell you! Like to have a look from below?"

We climbed on to the repair scaffolding beneath the jagged edge of the hole. The green plates of the copper sheathing are torn, curled like leaves. Fred put his hand up and picked bits of friable brownish stuff from the naked timber of the hull. The old shipwrights, he explained, put a packing of leather between the hull and its copper sheath. I crumbled a bit of the stuff between my fingers. This, then, was once shipwright's leather, tough and enduring of grain, turned now by time's slow chemistry to the softness of rotten bark.

The bomb blew away a section of keel the length of a man, or longer. Fred points to the splintered keel-ends; sprouting grey matchwood. "A bloomin' crime, if you ask me, sir", he says. "That keel was solid oak from stem to stern, six foot deep, two foot wide. It was laid at Chatham Dockyard in 1759. Came through a dozen battles and blockades. Then a kid in a Jerry's plane pulls a lever and slices it in two like a stick o' mint-rock!"

FRED SNORTED. His snort bespoke a noble indignation. But bearing in mind the concentrated nature of the air attack on Portsmouth, the Victory might have fared worse. Apart from the hole in her hull, she suffered minor blast from other bombs; her upper-deck planking is slightly scarred by incendaries; and there is a dent left by a 180-lb. hunk of stone which was hurled by high explosive from a neighboring quay. (The stone is now lodged permanently as a war relic beneath the poop, near wheel and binnacle.) There you have the entire tale of the Victory's maiming from the air.

She was stripped for action early in the war. Topmasts, top-gallants and yards were taken down and stowed away lest her towering height should serve enemy pilots as a landmark; but a jury spar was rigged to the stump of mainmast to carry the flag of Portsmouth's commander-in-chief, which she has worn since 1825. Throughout the blitz, the Admiral's flag flew defiantly, greatly to the chagrin of the Nazis, who more than once claimed that it had been struck down by air attack.

His shore quarters having been wrecked by bombs, the commander-in-chief came aboard, setting up home and office in Nelson's quarters. Others who had been bombed or crowded out came swarming up the gangway in the Admiral's wake: first the dock guard and the dockyard fire-fighting squads; then some hundreds of cadets on commission warrant courses. The Victory became a combined school and boarding house. The school aspect was not the least interesting.

Through the carved entry-ports they came, naval officers in the making—ordinary seamen, able seamen, signalmen, telegraphists, writers, torpedomen, gunners, each with a kitbag on his shoulder and, somewhere inside his head, a bright vision of himself as a new-fledged sub-lieutenant in the RNVR wearing a wavy stripe of genuine gold-braid half-way round the sleeve, or a stripe of ersatz gold braid (popularly known as Christmas tree tinsel) all the way round the sleeve.

The lessons were held astern, in Captain Hardy's day cabin and dining cabin, each furnished with school desks, school pens, school ink and a stern, precise RN schoolmaster, who made diagrams of depth charges and donkey engines in squeaky chalk on school blackboards that were lined up against immemorial bulkheads.

AND NOW ALL THIS is gone like a dream. Last July the blueprints of the Society for Nautical Research were brought from their lockers; here, down to the last cleat and deadeye, is a record of the rigging carried by the Victory at Trafalgar. The dockyard was successfully scoured for cordage, which is scarce after six years of war. Dockyard departments, naval ratings, and naval pensioners re-hoisted topmasts, topgallants, yards and spars. The job of re-rigging the ship on 1805 lines was completed in time for Trafalgar Day, October 21.

Fred feels at home again on the upper deck. He talks to me of rigging technicalities. I do not understand him in the least, but his language holds a salty beauty. He talks of forestays, preventer-stays, martingales, guys; of boom, driver-boom, and flying jibboom; of goosenecks, crutches, crawfoots and stay-thimbles; of single-blocks, triple-blocks, flat-blocks, shoulder-blocks, double-scored blocks, and long-tackle-blocks.

THERE ARE, if you like, anachronisms aboard the Victory. You come upon dial telephones and electric fires. In Nelson's sleeping quarters I found a refrigerator and vestiges of dried egg. The handsome rudder-head casing in the wardroom serves a two-fold purpose. At courts-martial, which have been held regularly in the Victory since 1939, it provides a background for the president's chair. On Sundays the padre drapes it with an altar cloth, and a blue-jacket opens a neighboring harmonium for religious ministrations.

But refrigerator and harmonium are the merest straws on the stream. The Victory remains in essence an enclave of ancient days. As I leave the docks I look back to see her masts and triangulated shrouds soaring above mellow brick and red-tiled roofs. It is as though the decades have rolled back and Nelson is again treading quayside cobbles that lead to immortality.

Mackenzie King's Leadership on Dec. 17 Was—

His Greatest Hour

On That Day He Placed Canada in the Front Ranks of World Leadership and Gave the World New Hope for Peace

By Elmore Philpott

In The Vancouver Sun

TAKE A BIG RED CRAYON and draw a circle around December 17, 1945, on your calendar.

On that day Canada's Prime Minister did the biggest thing that he has ever done in his long lifetime.

On that day, the leaders of Canada's three main political parties did a grand job for their own country—and all the human family.

Poets have long dreamed dreams of the coming Parliament of Man. Prophets have predicted it ever since the days of Isaiah. Politicians have talked about it as something desirable at some dim distant day. Even Britain's present foreign minister teams up with his predecessor, unofficially, to urge "an abatement of national sovereignty."

But—on his seventy-first birthday, the head of a free young nation stands up in his official place in Parliament and says the time for world government is now. In this Canada has led the world.

HERE WAS ONE OF THOSE rare, happy occasions in history when men and women of goodwill in all parties can sink their minor differences to forge ahead side by side as a team for the common good.

There is such a thing as sentiment in statecraft. It would be idle to deny that our Prime Minister is near the last lap of an embattled career. And now—on his seventy-first birthday—the grandson of William Lyon Mackenzie takes on a job far bigger and better than any great thing the grandfather ever did. It would be idle to deny that even Mr. King's opponents admire his spirit.

THE CURSE OF CANADA IS the inferiority complex. Most Canadians do not even realize the great achievements of Canada as a nation, and by Canadians as individuals.

Canadians did a fine and new thing when this country won complete self-government by a better method than it had been won across the border. Many Canadians of all sections and from both races contributed to that great achievement of a century ago—Howe, Papineau, and so on. But the little firebrand who delivered the goods was Mr. King's grandfather—on his mother's side. The mother devoted her whole life to fitting her son to finish her father's job.

It was in the best family tradition that Mr. King fought the great fight that ended also in the Statute of Westminster—which changed the Empire into a Commonwealth of free, equal partners.

But there could be nothing so silly, or so shallow, as to suggest that it was all a matter of personality. The facts were such in Canada that this country was capable of giving international leadership.

CANADA NOW HAS the honor of being the first country in all the world to come right out for responsible government at the world level. It is fitting and proper that Canada should do so. This country is American by geographical fact. This nation is British in quite as deep a sense as are England or Scotland. The modern Commonwealth was really made-in-Canada, chiefly by Mr. King.

CANADIANS ARE acutely aware that failure to achieve stable peace will set in motion forces which will clash in final atomic war.

You could say that for Canada it is a case of either the hand of friendship across the Pole, or atomic warfare across the Pole.

There is for mankind in general, and Canada in particular, only one answer. It is the one Mr. King gave on December 17. If he should live to be as old as Methusaleh, he could never do a finer thing than he did that day. For he helped to bring down to practical reality the angel's song of peace on earth.

This'n That

The convivial husband had a friend to stay with him for the week-end. As the guest was being shown his room, he noticed faint crosses on several of the stair steps, and asked the reason.

"Ah", whispered the host, "these come into operation after midnight. X means that the step creaks."

Piffle?

Editor, Bulletin: Regarding the "news" item in your paper of recent date "Canterbury Dean says Americans are behind the time." It is regrettable that such cockeyed piffle is not kept out of print. It sounds more like an idea some Germans and Japs might have had a few years ago.

Welcomes Investigation

Editor Bulletin: The letter from Mr. James Leslie in your Jan. 7 issue clearly demonstrates the danger of the too common practice of making and accepting statements without thorough investigation.

Mr. Leslie obviously parrots most of his assumptions from an article entitled "The Technology Myth," which appeared in the December issue of "National Affairs Monthly" (organ of the L.P.P.). Since the author of the said article has admitted that he wrote it before he had investigated Technocracy thoroughly, Mr. Leslie is left rather high and dry.

One of the more blatant errors in both the article and the letter is that which deals with Technocracy's financial arrangements. Technocracy pays only subsistence allowances to a very few full-time personnel. Its members finance its activities; it has no "angels." Since it is incorporated under the laws of the state of New York as a non-profit organization, its books are subjected to constant scrutiny.

Technocracy welcomes, either private or public investigation.

Interest Free

Editor, Bulletin: "It is still necessary to continue price control if the inflationary conditions which exist as consequence of war, are to be held in check." Thus speaks Mr. Gordon, while at the same time the prime minister has increased this danger of inflation (Politicians Dream) via the family allowance. The very thing Mr. Gordon is fighting against and costing the tax-payer millions of dollars.

Since we got along somehow between 1930-40 without the family allowance, I am sure we would have made it from there on even if we had to punch a few extra holes in the belt and tighten it some more. Why the prime minister chose a time like this to pay a family allowance when the country is supposed to be overbubbling with money is obvious. The party machine was doomed, but was saved at the expense of the tax-payer.

When the Liberal candidate was asked at one of his meetings during the election campaign how the money was going to be raised to pay the family allowance, he answered "There are only two ways to raise the money, by taxing and borrowing." So you see folks, we tax ourselves and mortgage ourselves to the money-sharks to pay ourselves a family allowance. I am not opposed to the family allowance, but it should be debt and interest free as advocated by Social Crediters for the last 11 years, so that people would not be milked cows to the financial institutions from the cradle to the grave and from generation to generation. It is said, "A national debt is a national fraud." And how true. How about doing a little thinking folks?

World Money-Power Centre

From THE OTTAWA CITIZEN.

The bankers and financiers of New York have begun a campaign to make New York the centre of the world's money-power.

They tried it after the first world war. For years the dollar superseded the pound sterling as the leading international currency. But after the slump and collapse of 1931, the dollar abdicated and the pound sterling, unbacked by gold, became the chief world currency again. It took the form of sterling treasury bills. These financed trade over a great part of the earth. The equivalent of twenty billion dollars' worth of them is in use today.

Now, the United States financial leaders are pressing President Truman to demand that in giving effect to the Bretton Woods monetary agreement, not only the international fund set up under that pact but also the international bank itself should have headquarters in New York.

The argument is that since the great investment houses are in that city, the bank and fund ought also to be there, because the bank will deal in investment loans eventually to be sold by underwriters.

President Truman is also advised to select the United States governors and directors from the personnel of the Federal Reserve Board or from that of the Export-Import bank. Obviously the money-power in the United States has already made its preparations to dominate international finance if it can. The threat is clearly seen in the United Kingdom.

"Our signature of the Bretton Woods agreement," says one critic there, "leaves us so tied in monetary matters to the United States as to ensure that any American depression must communicate itself to our economy, making nonsense of our full employment aims."

Toronto Primate At Boyhood Home

LACOMBE.—Memories of the 1890's returned to the Most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, DD, DCL, Archbishop of Toronto and Anglican Primate of all Canada during a short visit to Lacombe last week.

The Canadian Primate resided six miles east of Lacombe on the Buffalo Lake Trail in 1893, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Owen lived for 12 months. He recalled riding on horseback from Calgary to Lacombe when 18 years old, and expressed a desire to have "a look" at his parent's old farm. Mayor Thomas Wilkes drove the Primate along the Buffalo Lake road where he identified the former George Chiswell farm as the site of his parent's home 52 years ago.

Names of older residents in Lacombe had escaped the memory of the Primate. He did recall, though, Postmaster William Burris of Lacombe. "There were only two or three houses here when I left," he explained.

Most Rev. Owen met with Anglican clergymen from Mirror and Lacombe during his short stay here enroute to Calgary.

Congregation Has Business Meeting

SYLVAN LAKE—Memorial Pres-Presbyterian church held its annual business meeting last week, when the financial report indicated one of the best years in the history of the church. The congregation invited the present pastor, the Rev. Ian McEween, to remain here for another year, and he accepted.

S. S. Barker resigned as chairman of the board of management and a new chairman will be appointed shortly. All departments of the church tabled progressive reports.

The Ladies' Aid of the church has elected the following new officers: Hon. president, Mrs. A. M. Steele; president, Mrs. A. Howard; vice-president, Mrs. J. May; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. F. D. McCrimmon.

Wolves Menace Children In Northern Settlements

REGINA.—Man was stepping today into a new and deadly struggle in the animal kingdom of northern Saskatchewan.

The Saskatchewan government has declared war on timber wolves, who have eaten themselves out of their homes in the wilds and are venturing into the backyards of settlements, destroying livestock and spreading terror among the people.

THE GOVERNMENT has doubled the bounty on wolves, and hunters and trappers are going into action with guns, traps and poison.

Although there is no official record of children being attacked, mothers in the northern area are keeping children from school because of the menace of the wolf packs.

THE ORDINARY timber wolf does not attack human beings unless cornered, but northern Saskatchewan is not infested with just the ordinary type of timber wolf.

The game commissioner of Saskatchewan's department of natural resources, W. H. Hartwell, said Saturday, Meadow Lake, Prince Albert, Big River and Hudson Bay junction are the chief hunting grounds of two particularly dangerous types of wolves—the black arctic wolf and a cross between the north country's dog and an ordinary timber wolf.

THE BEASTS, HE SAYS, are reported to be particularly bold, not hesitating to strike at domestic animals within earshot of a farmer's dwelling.

The government received one report from a field officer of the game department that a child was killed by a timber wolf, but the incident was not verified.

THE BLACK ARCTIC wolf, "king" of the timber wolves in the north, first appeared in the wake of herds of cariboo migrating from the north country, and remained after the cariboo moved on.

The latest wolf menace has been developing for three years. The wolves have killed off or scared away most of the big game in the wilds, and they have been forced to venture elsewhere in search of food.

Says Friendship Needed For Peace

LACOMBE—Internationalism and the understanding friendship of all nations is essential for the success of the United Nations Charter, declared District Governor, Marshall Murray of Kalispell, Montana at a Charter and Ladies' Night banquet held by the Lacombe Lions in the Adelphi hotel.

Mr. Murray outlined briefly the aims and objectives of the United Nations, and stated that Lions International held the same views.

Lions from Red Deer and Innisfail were present at the annual gathering which saw about 100 guests sit down for the banquet. President C. D. Williamson was chairman.

Nine new members, Maj. John McDonald, "Hoppy" Hopkins, Gerry Whyte, Dr. W. G. Black, J. Stock, Gordon Ferguson, Ken MacDougall Joe Dick and Bert Ford were initiated by Lion International Councillor Jim West.

AFTER THE introduction of visiting Lions and the main address by District Governor Murray, a program under the direction of Harry Ford was presented.

Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. W. Sutherland and R. Rhind; Miss Marion May presented two Scotch dance numbers; Reg. Wilkes played a piano solo; and Bob Fosnaugh gave a piano accordion solo. A novelty modelling contest with Wes Jacobson and H. E. Wilson dressing two model dummies provided many laughs during the program.

Mrs. Jardine Dies: Was Provost Nurse

LACOMBE.—The death of Mrs. J. H. Jardine occurred in the Lacombe Community hospital Friday, after a lengthy illness. She came to Lacombe with her husband and family in 1938. She was born at Burford, Ont., and trained as a nurse at Guelph. On graduation, she nursed for a number of years in Ontario before coming west in 1923, where she continued in the profession at Provost.

Besides her husband, she leaves two children, James, 15 years old, and Beryl, 9, both attending the Lacombe school; her father, of Lansing, Mich.; one sister and two brothers.

A funeral service was held from St. Andrew's United church Monday afternoon. The Rev. L. A. Thompson officiated, and special music was rendered by the choir with a solo by Mrs. H. Alfke.

Slight Damage in Refrigerator Fire

LACOMBE—Only slight damage was caused when fire broke out in the basement refrigerator room of the Empress hotel last week. Members of the local volunteer fire brigade answered the call in short order, and brought chemicals into play to quell the blaze. Smoke was the greatest hazard the firemen faced. The fire alarm was turned in by Bill Clemes. Several volunteers gathered to throw water on the blaze before smoke drove them from the basement.

dom of Jugoslavia. They had good reason for their agitation as, under King Alexander, Serbia exerted a repressive hegemony over Croatia.

Marshall Tito's policy of a federal Jugoslavia with wide powers of autonomy for its various states has largely destroyed the separatist movement in Croatia—at any rate, for the present. But the Communists fear the hold which the old leaders of the Croatian Peasant Party might still have over the peasants in regard to other issues. Hence the persistent smear campaign against Dr. Vladko Macek, the eminent prewar Jugoslav politician, who now is living in exile in Paris. Hence also the general policy of intimidation directed against all other leaders of the Croatian Peasant Party who are not prepared to accept unqualified domination by the Communist Party.

I HAVE SEEN something of this at first hand. A year ago, I was in Topusko, 30 miles south of Zagreb, with the British military mission accredited to the Croatian Army of National Liberation. Dr. August Kosutic, vice president of the Peasant Party, escaped from Zagreb and came to Topusko. Kosutic is a son-in-law of the late Stephen Radic, co-founder of the Peasant Party. He had come from Zagreb on behalf of the moderate section of the prewar party leadership, which had sat on the fence during the occupation to negotiate with the Partisans on terms on which he and his friends could join the National Liberation Front.

Kosutic was introduced to me by Monsignor Rytig, the only leading churchman who joined the Partisans. One Sunday, Rytig and Kosutic lunched at the British mission headquarters as my guests. On returning home. Kosutic found OZNA (secret police) agents waiting for him. They took him away and we never saw him again.

THIS WAS A year ago. When I was in Zagreb recently, I inquired as to his whereabouts. He's still in prison, though he has never been accused on any charge, let alone tried or convicted.

Other leading political figures also are in prison or subject to restraint. Dr. Ivan Subasic, ex-premier, whose agreement with Marshal Tito was the basis on which the British and American governments provisionally recognized the new Jugoslav government, is now living in retirement in Zagreb. I went to call on him immediately after my talk with Archbishop Stepinac which led to my being pursued through the streets of Zagreb and interrogated by OZNA agents. There was another OZNA agent outside Subasic's apartment. He did not ask for my passport but, while I was inside, he shone a torch on my jeep and took its number. He was much embarrassed when I came out and offered him a cigaraette.

SUBASIC RESIGNED from the Tito government in response to pressure from leading members of the Croatian Peasant Party who were not prepared to support the totalitarian trend of the regime. Wherever he goes in Zagreb, Subasic is followed by OZNA agents. If he pauses and talks with anyone, even children, while out walking, OZNA agents interrogate them and take their names and addresses.

The present economic situation in Jugoslavia is likely to cause considerable unrest. The peasants find that, when they bring produce to the market, they now get fixed prices paid in dinars, with which they can buy almost nothing in the shops. Consequently, they are hoarding their produce, and the towns are getting very short of food. Some action doubtless is contemplated to cope with the situation, and it's not likely to be popular with the peasants. Hence the Communist desire to discredit and destroy the old leadership of the Croatian Peasant Party lest the peasants' discontent against the regime should find capable and trustworthy spokesmen.

ANYONE WHO knows Jugoslavia and who goes there wishing not to prove what he already believes, but to report facts and trends as he sees them, is bound to conclude that the whole political atmosphere is one of repression and occasionally of terror, and that it's almost impossible to organize any effective opposition to the government without running afoul of the Communist junta and its ubiquitous though clumsy secret police.

Request Increase In Pipeline Charge

CALGARY, Jan. 21.—(CP)—The Valley Pipe Line Co., Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Royalite, has applied to the board of public utilities at Edmonton for permission to increase the cost of transporting oil from Turner Valley to Calgary three cents a barrel. The present charge is 9¼ cents.

The decline in Turner Valley production is given as the reason for seeking the change, then the present rate was set the company's lines were carrying about 25,000 barrels a day. Now the valley production is down to less than 20,000 a day. Maintenance costs are the same, it is stated, therefore the cost per barrel has increased.

The case will be heard by G. M. Blackstock, KC, public utilities commissioner, beginning Jan. 29.

Lady Astor Comes To U.S. For Visit

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(CP)—Lady Astor, Virginia-born former member of the British House of Commons, arrived here Sunday aboard the fruit cargo vessel, Eros, for a family visit to the United States.

As she swept down the gangplank, clad in a long mink coat and a mink-trimmed hat, a dozen crew members saluted her with a lusty rendition of "For she's a jolly good fellow."

She told reporters on the pier that "the world has gone crazy talking about the common man; it's not the common man who gets you on—it's the uncommon man."

LADY ASTOR SAID she had abandoned reluctantly her ambition to be the first woman member of the House of Lords after British voters swept a Labor government into power last summer.

Referring to former prime minister Churchill, who preceded her to New York by a few days, she added: "Winston might have arranged it."

She said she wasn't worried about the Labor government because "it's full of lords and ladies after all."

Asked why she came over on the 5,888-ton cargo ship, she replied: "They wouldn't give me a priority. Anyway I'd rather go on a small ship. It was a wonderful trip, a rough one, but I had a rest."

Locate Lifeboats 2,000 Miles Away

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Development of an underwater sound system enabling the location of air and ship survivors at sea as far as 2,000 miles from shore stations was announced Saturday by the United States navy.

It was developed jointly by the navy and the Oceanographic Institution, Woods Hole, Mass.

Workings of the sea-rescue aid system, given the name of "Sofar" from the initial letters of the phrase "Sound Fixing and Ranging," were explained as follows:

SURVIVORS in a life raft drop a five-pound TNT bomb developed by navy ordnance, and increasing pressure explodes it at a depth of 3,000 to 4,000 feet.

The sound is picked up by operators of three widely-spaced shore stations, using hydrophones fixed at the 3,000-4,000 foot depth.

The operators, by comparing the times when the signal is received and referring to special charts, are able to plot the position of the explosion.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW

by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

SIX points, or three full games ahead of Saskatoon after Saturday's 3-2 overtime decision, gives Edmonton a pretty substantial lead over Elks to work on, but not being as sharp as in recent home affairs, the Flyers were fortunate in stopping the fast-skating Saskatchewan club.

Edmonton has 13 scheduled games remaining, seven at home and six away, and four of the 13 are with Saskatoon, two on foreign ice for each club. They play Regina five times and Calgary four.

Flyers, now unbeaten on the home pond since Nov. 21 and for eight straight, will not see action again until next Saturday, when they visit Calgary. Stampeders hold just a single point margin over Edmonton, but before the two can meet next Saturday, have a pair of dates, playing in Saskatoon on Tuesday and in Regina the following night.

BOBBY CARSE snared only an assist, but it boosted his margin over Red Hunter to six points, the count now being 53 to 47. Stan Devicq's winning goal lifted him back into a tie with Calgary's Dunc Grant for league top scorer, both having 26 goals to their credit.

Bing Merluk's was the prettiest goal of the night. Bing did some jockeying for position after accepting Carse's short pass, stickhandling two defenders out of the picture before picking his spot.

Three penalties in the third period really had the Flyers behind the eight ball—and on a night they were getting a bad game out of their system. Saskatoon's back checking throughout was very effective and the Elks seemed more inclined to pass after hitting the blue line instead of merely dumping the puck over and then chasing after it as in the game the week previous.

IN ALL PERIODS excepting the overtime when Edmonton held a 5 to 3 edge, Elks outshot the Flyers, having a 12 to 7 margin in the first, 15 to 11 during the second and a 15 to 7 advantage in the third heat, for a total of 45 to 30. Flyers did make a good finish in both second and third semesters and Gordie Watt just about nailed down the lid with only a few seconds left of regulation time. His shot, which would have been screened, hit a defender's pad and careened off to the side.

Elks appeared to be under the impression that McAuley doesn't like the long ones, several shots being from well out and a few even from beyond the blue line, but they all looked alike to Ken Saturday. A little more finish around the nets would convert Saskatoon into a dangerous club.

ART POTTER, director of the City Junior Hockey League, advises that EAC and South Side definitely will play at the arena on Tuesday night and that the teams for Thursday will be announced either today or Tuesday.

Canadians, at present out in the Coal Branch where they have tied and won in two starts against Cadomin, are billed for an exhibition on Saturday night against the Independent Hockey League's entry in the Alberta intermediate playdowns.

Kitcheners Star

Bruins Blank Canadiens 3-0 Squaring Week-End Series

BOSTON, Jan. 21—(AP)—Getting away flying, the Boston Bruins evened their week-end home-and-home series with Montreal Canadiens by shutting out the National Hockey League leaders 3-0 Sunday night before a packed 13,900 crowd at Boston Garden. It was goalie Frankie Brimsek's first whitewashing job since he returned from the coastguard.

Usually the Bruins get rolling in slow fashion on home ice but the Kitcheners tore into action as soon as the puck was dropped and 95 seconds later Woody Dumart laced in a 15-footer after being fed from the right by Milt Schmidt.

During the 10th minutes of action, Bep Guidolin outfought defenceman Glen Harmon for the disc in the left corner of the Montreal zone and broke clear with him. As he wheeled, Harmon moved to his net, just in time to deflect Bep's shot into the cage with one of his skates.

The second session was lightning fast but scoreless and Pat Egan notched the Bruin's third counter with less than eight minutes remaining.

Frank had 25 shots fired at him compared to 19 at Paul Bibeault, ex-Boston netminder.

GOALIE OUTSTANDING IN MONTREAL CLASH

MONTREAL, Jan. 21—(CP)—The National Hockey League-leading Montreal Canadiens turned back Boston Bruins 3-1 here Saturday in a hard-fought contest before 11,607 fans.

It was a close contest between goalie Paul Bibeault of Canadiens and Frankie Brimsek in the Boston nets who were by far the individual stars of the game.

Brimsek rose to spectacular heights in the third period to avert what could have been a much higher score against him.

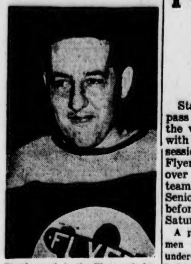
BRANDON, Man., Jan. 21—(CP)—Brandon Elks routed Port Arthur West End Bruins 18-5 before a crowd of about 3,000 here Saturday night in the second game of a two-game junior exhibition hockey series. Bruins had won the first game here Thursday night 6-5.

Don Raleigh with five goals, Arni Coleman, four, Wally Hergesheimer, Bing Juckes and Vern Smith, two each, and Hec Bourgeois and Jack McIntyre were the Elks' marksmen while Ray Ceresino, Ed. Siltanen, Baldy MacKay, Wainio and McLennan tallied for the visitors.

Devicq Converts Laprade Pass at 5:43 of Extra Session

Flyers Edge Out Elks 3-2 in Overtime

14th Win



Sturdy work in the Flyer nets by Ken McAuley had much to do with Edmonton's 3-2 victory over Saskatoon at the arena Saturday night. Only two of 45 shots got past Ken as Riley Mullen's men racked up their 14th win.

Penalty Proves Costly

By HAL DEAN

Stan Devicq's goal on a pass from Bert Laprade with the visitors shorthanded and with more than half the extra session gone, gave Edmonton Flyers a 3-2 overtime verdict over a fighting Saskatoon team in a Western Canada Senior Hockey League game before 5,039 at the arena on Saturday night.

A penalty for having too many men on the ice left Saskatoon under-manned after four minutes had been played in the bargain session, and Flyer pressure paid off at 5:43 when Laprade got a pass out to Devicq from the right corner. Devicq flicked the disc past goalie Ralph Almas from a skirmish a few feet out.

Bobby Carse also drew an interference ticket with a couple of minutes remaining and the Elks came close to scoring while enjoying the man-power advantage, Brennan and Ullyot barely failing to finish off a dangerous foray. Flyers outplayed Elks in the overtime and outshot the antlered squad five to three.

GREATLY IMPROVED over their previous appearances here, the Saskatoon boys skated both ways and their passing was much better. Addition of Nestor Lubeck, ex-Notre Dame Hound who had just returned from Washington of the Eastern U.S. Amateur League, gave the Saskatchewan club more fire and line power, and Buddy Craig, former Sydney and Yorkton defenceman certainly stiffened up the rearguard, Craig paired with Art Shoquist.

Trailing in the first and again in the second stanza, the Elks, who held an edge during most of the regulation 60 minutes, had twice come through with the tying counter and would have gone out in front during the third heat had it not been for Ken McAuley's spectacular goaling. Saskatoon had a 45 to 30 margin in shots on goal.

FLYERS ASSUMED the lead in the opening period before two minutes had elapsed, Carse setting up Bing Merluk with a short pass just a few feet away. Merluk took his time, stickhandled around two defenders and picked the corner, giving Almas no chance.

Elks drew even at 6:43, Cy Rouse being credited with the goal which appeared to bound into the air off a stick before dropping into the net beside a surprised Ken McAuley. Jim Brennan got the assist.

Don Stanley netted for Edmonton midway in the period, but the play was called back for a zone offside. There was one penalty in the first canto, Lubeck being chased for hooking Lane. Gordie Watt hit a goal post and Almas saved two close-ins from Stanley as the period ended.

ULLYOT hit the cross-bar of the Flyer net second after the middle session began. Elks were shorthanded agani, Rouse was tagged for hooking when he wrapped his stick around Stanley.

Flyers went ahead again at 5:05 when Watt fired a long shot from the right boards. The puck appeared to glance off Laprade's skate before sliding into the net off one of the goalie's. Laprade camped in a good scoring position, of course got credit for it. Rouse was still off at the time.

Lane drew a hooking penalty and seconds after returning drove in another "called-back" goal. Lubeck's tying counter resulted from loose defence work, the new Saskatoon winger stealing the rubber and slipping it off McAuley's skate into the corner as he swung out from behind the net.

FLYERS WERE shorthanded three times in the third period, but no damage resulted. Lane went off for tripping in the first minute, but Elks couldn't get organized, having only one shot at McAuley.

Stanley was sent off for high-sticking, but judging by the uproar from the fans, nobody in the arena but the officials saw it that way. Brennan fell after apparently colliding with Stanley and it seemed doubtful if either had seen the crash. There was a delay while the sheet was cleared of programs—even a couple of hats floated out onto the ice.

Saskatoon put out four forwards when Lane was serving his second penalty, this time for hooking. Watt almost scored seconds before the gong.

LINEUPS

Saskatoon—Almas; Allen, Williams; Ullyot, Lubeck, Miller. Subs—Welsh, Shoquist, Craig, Lundy, Rouse, Brennan.

PORTLAND, Jan. 21—(CP)—Portland Eagles came from behind a 2-1 first period deficit to down New Westminster Royals 3-2 and move into a tie with visitors for second place in the northern division, Pacific Coast Hockey League.

Dominion Soccer Body In Making

TORONTO, Jan. 21—(CP)—A new Dominion of Canada football association, built on ashes of the one that died at the outbreak of war, is in formation, it was learned Saturday. It will be organized in time to allow staging of a Canadian soccer championship this year and to permit a tour of a British football association representative team through the Dominion in the summer of 1947.

England Shuts Out Belgium

85,000 Watch Soccer Fixture

LONDON, Jan. 21 — (CP Cable) — England defeated Belgium 2-0 here Saturday in an international soccer game attended by 85,000 spectators including Paul Henri Spaak, president of the United Nations assembly and foreign minister of Belgium.

Two international rugby games also were played, with Scotland's Rugby Union 15 defeating the New Zealand touring team 11-6 in Edinburg, and England beating Wales 25-13 in Cardiff.

A new feature was introduced in the England-Belgium soccer game when linesmen were provided with irridescent flags which glow in poor light. The flags had an early test as fog settled during the interval and the Canadian Women's Army Corps pipe band on the field could scarcely be seen.

IN REGULAR BRITISH soccer games, Charlton Athletic was upset 2-0 by West Ham United. Charlton Athletic still holds the leadership in League South, however.

Charlton showed a lack of shooting power and an uncertain defence. Aston Villa, holding second place in the league standings, also went down to defeat, losing 3-1 to Birmingham, the third place holder.

Derby County, now fourth, beat Milwall 2-1.

In League North, the four teams tied for the leadership suffered varied fortunes. Chesterfield lost 1-0 to the third place Manchester City squad. Sheffield United beat Middlesborough 4-3 and Blackpool downed Leeds United 4-2. Everton whipped Blackburn Rovers 4-1.

THE GAMES left Everton, Sheffield United and Blackpool still tied on games won for the lead while Chesterfield dropped to second place.

In Third Division games, Stockport County led in the northwest section after beating Barrow 5-2. Carlisle United, leader in the northwest section, defeated York City 3-1. South End United downed Northampton 1-0 to move into a tie with Mansfield Town for the leadership the south-north play. Bristol Rovers, winners by a 1-0 score over Bristol City, led the south-south games.

All-Time Record NHL Crowd Sees Chicago Whip Rangers

CHICAGO, Jan. 21—(AP)—Chicago Black Hawks, reenacting a series of recent grudge games with New York Rangers, last night treated the largest crowd in the history of hockey to one of the highest-scoring displays of the season as they defeated the Rangers 9-1 in Chicago stadium.

A crowd of 19,749—an all-time record—watched the Black Hawks run up a 7-0 lead before New York broke through for its first goal. The victory put the Chicagoans, who finished fifth last year back in a tie for first place in the league standings with Montreal Canadiens.

Max Bentley, lithe Blacks Hawk who leads the league in points scored this season, added three more goals to his total last night.

The game failed to produce the fireworks the crowd had anticipated from the feud between the two clubs—a feud that brought numerous injuries and penalties to players on both sides in their last two meeting, both won by New York by 3-2 scores. There were five penalties in the first period, three to the Hawks and two to the Rangers, but after that, with Chicago holding a 3-0 advantage, the game slowed down.

The crowd was the largest in professional hockey since Jan. 12, 1941, when 19,346 fans crowded into the stadium to see the Black Hawks and Detroit renew a similar feud.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By ALAN HARVEY

TORONTO, Jan. 21.—(CP)—Ralph S. McCreath, who recently rejected a $400-a-week professional offer because "It's not the kind of life I want," is a tip-off on the amateur spirit that sustains competitive figure skating in Canada.

On the fancy blades, you skate for glory if you win and for nothing if you lose.

Despite that, the 26-year-old Toronto athlete who was North America's singles champion before he joined the Canadian Army in 1941 is grooming for another whirl in amateur competition at the annual Canadian figure skating championships in Schamacher, Ont., Jan. 25-26.

RECENTLY returned from overseas where he served as major with the Canadian vehicle company, a tank recovery outfit, McCreath is in training at Toronto skating club between law studies at Osgoode Hall.

"Technically I can still do everything I ever could," says McCreath. "But my wind is still bad and it'll be at least a month before I'm in top shape."

Canadians are still among the world's top figure skaters, he says, but they can make money only by joining one of the touring United States ice shows or by instructing. Both are "thankless jobs."

Figure skating is like ballet dancing. "You skate perhaps as many as eight hours a day, and you do it just for the fun of it. Then, half the time, you have to look on the society page for figure skating news."

THE CAREER that was to see McCreath follow in the path blazed by Montgomery (Bud) Wilson of Toronto started with Ralph's fondness for hockey. Figure skating looked so easy he decided to try it—and promptly fell on his face. After that he was determined to master the sport.

He did. He became junior singles champion of Canada in 1935, took the senior title from 1939 to 1941 and also won the North American title in 1941. In doubles competition, paired first with Veronica Clarke and then with Norah McCarthy and Eleanor O'Meara, all of Toronto, he won the junior title in 1935 and 1936 and the senior crown from 1937 to 1941. He and his partner also won the North American pairs title in 1937 and 1941.

Canadians Win and Draw In Exhibitions at Cadomin

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

CADOMIN, Alta., Jan. 21—Before 500 fans, Earl Robertson's Edmonton Canadians, Memorial Cup contenders this season, were held to a 3-3 tie by Alex Matheson's Cadomin team at the arena here Saturday night. Canadians won the Sunday game 10-3.

Both squads opened up at a fast clip in the Saturday contest and dished up sparkling hockey. Play was clean throughout and pioneer residents recalled the previous visit of the crack EAC squad which had played a great series of exhibition games on the coal branch several years ago.

FEATURED ON THE Edmonton junior squad were three players who learned their early hockey in this vicinity. Cy Thomas and Eddie Thomas are residents of Luscar while Leo Lucchine, forward, is a resident of Cadomin.

Don Robertson opened the scoring for the visitors on an unassisted effort at the five minute mark. Cy Thomas, on a pass from brother Ed, put the visitors ahead 2-0 at the nine minute mark.

W. S. Stene finished the scoring of the period on a pass from Carriere at the sixteen minute mark.

THE SECOND period opened fast with both goal-keepers, Murray and Shearer, making spectacular saves. Playing with Bannon and Gadsby both serving penalties, the Cadomin squad put on the pressure and Chesney tied the score on a pass from McKenna at the thirteen minute mark. Veteran Bill Stene, on passes from Cebuliak and Carriere, gave Murray no chance on a shot which put the Cadomin team in the lead for the first time in the game. With all their team up the ice, Edmonton scored at the 19 minute mark when Sissons drove in a hard shot on a pass from Gadsby.

There was no overtime.

Wrestlers Return Here Tonight For First 1946 Show

Tonight's local wrestling fans view the first show of 1946, featuring three newscomers to the local man hauling scene. The show, scheduled to get underway at 8:30 o'clock with Bill Pirzek clashing with George Jerke in the opener, appears to have all the ear marks of something extra special in the way of wrestling.

Clashing in one-half of a double main event will be Sgt. Dick Raines, still in the army at Fort Lewis, and Cowboy "Dude" Chick. Raines is spending his leave on the wrestling trails while Chick is a grappler who has been in Hollywood for the past year.

The other half of the main attraction will feature "Logger" Jack MacDonald and Chief Thunderbird. MacDonald is from Pacific coast lumber camps while Thunderbird, who appeared on many of Tommy Taskers' 1945 cards, ranks high in the eyes of local fans.

Both main events will be sixty-minute time limit, two-out-three falls.

Wetaskiwin Downs Stettler In Central Alberta Hockey

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

WETASKIWIN, Alta., Jan. 21.—Before a packed arena here Saturday night, Wetaskiwin Colonels of the Central Alberta Hockey League handed the Stettler Imperials a 7-2 defeat. The victory gives the Colonels a stronger grip on the top spot of the league standing.

Bill Gostick was high goal getter, scoring three to turn the hat trick. He got one goal in the second period and put the rubber in the net twice in the third.

The first period moved along at a quick pace with the first and only goal of the frame coming off the stick of I. Jones for Wetaskiwin.

THE SECOND SESSION started slow, but on a long shot Goods of Stettler beat Baker to tie the game up. Five minutes later, Gostick put the Colonels ahead again, but this lasted for only one minute as Warshiwski of Stettler lifted the puck into the net during a scramble around the Colonels net and tied it up again. This left the score at the end of the period 2-2.

The third period got off to a fast start but both teams were unable to score. At the ten-minute mark, Wetaskiwin's big defence star, Douziech, beat Robertson and put Wetaskiwin ahead once more. This goal was followed by four others, goal-getters being Shantz, Gostick (2) and Bachlyn.

MAROONS TOO STRONG FOR RED DEER SEXTET

RED DEER Jan. 21—Camrose Maroons had a little too much scoring punch for Red Deer Ramblers and downed the locals 7-3 here on Saturday night in a speedy fixture in the Central Alberta Hockey League.

After a ragged first period in which the visitors counted two goals the teams settled down to play fast hockey. The second chapter ended 3-2 in favor of Maroons. The victory gave the teams an even break in the four games they have played against each other this winter.

Camrose presented a much stronger lineup than in their previous appearance on local ice and had seven new players in uniform.

THE NORTHERNERS caught Red Deer shorthanded early in the first period and Maddison scored to put them ahead, Steen laying down the pass. The goal was questioned but was allowed. The hockey was disorganized at times in this canto but Camrose settled down late in the session to tally again.

Twenty seconds from the drop of the puck in the second frame Pete Elock counted on a long shot from inside the blueline, Gregor passing him the disc. Ryan was penalized for tripping and Ramblers opened up with a fierce attack. They made it pay with two goals scored within fifteen seconds. Ainsworth stickhandled down the sheet after getting a pass from Roberts for the first marker and Roberts fired in the second after a speedy rush with Dillon. Camrose came back strong but Turner, in the Red Deer nets, made some great saves to hold them out.

THE VISITORS COUNTED again early in the third period, Petasky skating through from centre ice to do the trick after getting the puck from Scotty Richardson. Red Deer capitalized on a penalty to Maroons and Tomalty fired in a goal after a series of hot attacks. Back at full strength, the Camrose team hit their stride again and rapped in a trio of goals before the final gong.

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, Jan. 21—(Reuters)—Although the stock market was firm today the turnover was smaller than usual for a Monday as week-end orders were few.

Continued investment buying of British funds was the chief feature at the opening but initial improvement was not maintained and prices were marked off on slackening interest.

Among foreign bonds Brazilian met some support. Buying was believed to be for sinking fund purposes. There was some demand for far eastern liens.

Few changes were registered among industrials although leading oils eased on lack of support.

International dollar stocks eased in sympathy with lower New York advices and South African gold mines were dull.

Chicago May Rye Slashed 5 Cents

CHICAGO, Jan. 21—(AP)—Ceilingless May rye futures contract suffered a sinking spell today, slipping the five cent a bushel daily trade limit. Other grains eased in sympathy, with oats off almost two cents at times despite good commercial business.

The lower New York stock market, and a five-cent a bushel setback in rye at Minneapolis and Winnipeg, were outstanding bearish influences. Stop-loss orders were uncovered in rye on the way down.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅜ lower, corn was unchanged at $1.18½ ceilings, oats were down ⅜ to 1½ cents, rye was unchanged to 5 cents lower and barley was unchanged.

Cash Grain: Wheat: No. 2 hard and No. 2 red, 1.79; No corn sales; no oats sales; barley, nominal; malting, 1.21-1.39½; feed, 1.15-1.23¼.

Grain close:

Wheat: May 1.80½; July 1.79¾; Sept. 1.78⅛; Dec. 1.77⅝.

Corn: May 1.18½; July 1.18½; Sept. 1.18½.

Oats: May 79¼-⅜; July 76¼-⅜; Sept. 74¾-⅞; Dec. 74⅞-75.

Rye: May 1.92⅛; July 1.44½; Sept. 1.44½; Dec. 1.44½.

Barley: May 1.22½; July 1.19½; Sept. 1.16⅞.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(AP)—The stock market today suffered its worst stumble in more than a month as bearishness over the steel strike and other labor controversies caused selling of metals, motors and other leaders.

Searchers Find Aircraft Down In Far North

A two-day aerial search of the rugged terrain to the north of Lesser Slave Lake finished late Sunday afternoon with the finding of pilot Dave Dyck and his twin-engined, ski-equipped Dragonfly biplane, missing for five days, according to a telegraphed message received Sunday evening from Faust on the south shore of the Lesser Slave by Art Bell of Associated Airways.

THE TELEGRAM DID not say where, or by whom the aircraft, missing since Tuesday last, had been found but an intensive search had been carried on for two days by three planes from the Edmonton airfield, two of them piloted by members of the Edmonton Flying club, Jack Ross and Tom Fox, and the third, an Associated Airways craft piloted by Ray Corry and Bob Hunter.

Dyck left on his northern flight from Faust Tuesday, intending to go to Peerless Lake, 100 miles away to pick up a load of whitefish and return. Weather was fair when he left, although there were indications that there might be rougher skies to the north. Since there is no communication between Faust and Peerless Lake, it was not known until Thursday that he had not reached his destination.

A PLEA FOR PLANES to search the area for him was sent at once into Edmonton and three aircraft went to Faust, but weather conditions there were such on Thursday and Friday that they could go no farther north. On Saturday and Sunday they took up the search and found the plane and the missing pilot.

Dyck is an experienced flier who came to Edmonton first as a staff pilot at the air observers' school here. Later he joined the Ferry Command where he completed 19 trans-oceanic trips to England and India. Since before Christmas he flew from Faust to Peerless lake to pick up whitefish for rail shipment from Faust.

Edmonton Philharmonic Society Plays Varied Program of Works

Featuring works from Haydn to Debussy, the Edmonton Philharmonic Society gave its third concert of the current season in the Empire theatre on Sunday afternoon. A large audience, although by no means filling the theatre, attended and enjoyed the proceedings.

ABE FRATKIN was on the conductor's stand, and Nancy Tighe, soprano, was the soloist.

The program included Haydn's "Military" Symphony; Weber's overture to "Oberon"; Tchaikovsky's Andante Cantabile from the String Quartet in D Major; Vollstedt's Jolly Fellows waltz; Debussy's Clair de Lune, and Rossini's overture to "Semiramide".

TAKEN AS A WHOLE the concert proved disappointing in that expected improvement in all-round performance did not materialize.

In the "Oberon" overture—which should have been thoroughly familiar as it had been played on a previous program—and in the Haydn symphony there were too many shortcomings to merit unqualified approval.

THERE ARE CUES missed and entrances anticipated. There were times when both the overture and the symphony lost cohesion and form, while intonation was far from good on numerous occasions.

It would seem that the program had not been given the attention it should have received. Perhaps the flu has prevented the regular attendance of members at rehearsals. But whatever the reason, one has come to expect a better quality of playing from this organization. Of the lighter works, with the exception of Clair de Lune which also suffered in the matter of intonation, it may be said they were generally well done. Jolly Fellows waltz, was the leading work in volume of applause.

THE FACT THAT there were flaws, does not, however, mean that there was not much that was good. There was, and plenty of it. The only thing is that it could have been much better.

Mr. Fratkin on the podium labored valiantly to obtain brilliant results. He was unremitting in his efforts to weld his players into a unified whole and transform into reality, the effects pictured in the score in front of him.

NANCY TIGHE, soprano, was the soloist. For her opening number she reached to the stars and pulled down the famous Waltz Song from Act 1 of Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet" one of the most florid and difficult of all opera arias. For her second contribution she sang Manuel Ponce's popular My Little Star. She revealed a voice of light texture, but one of appealing quality, well projected and controlled. She proved sensitive to the varying and contrasting moods of the songs and altogether acquitted herself most creditably. Only 19 years old she should scale greater heights and future appearances will be awaited with interest.

All Yours

TO WORRY ABOUT

Unless you shift the burden

When a relative or friend names you in his Will as executor of his estate, the time will come, (if you survive him), when everything that is his,—business, investments, debts and family problems—will be all yours—to worry about.

If you are a busy man or are not experienced in estate administration, you would find that arranging for Probate, valuing Assets, establishing Debts, paying Succession Duties, dealing with Investments, setting up Trusts, making Distributions, and attending generally to the many details of Administration, would be more than you could handle, with justice to either the estate, the heirs, or your own affairs.

Should this happen to you, the thing to do is appoint The Royal Trust Company your Agent, to administer the estate, which would relieve you of all but superficial functions as executor.

Conversely, and in consideration for the friend you might yourself appoint, be sure to name The Royal Trust Company in your own Will as executor and trustee of your estate, to act alone, or with a relative or friend as co-executor or adviser.

It often pays in many ways to have the job well done.

American General Visits Base Here

Brig. Gen. Earl S. Hoag, representing the US war department general staff, arrived at the U.S. Army air base here yesterday, accompanied by D. H. Connor, Canadian treasury department's representative in Washington, D.C., and a group of U.S. officers representing the general staff, the air forces, ground forces, and service forces.

THROUGH AN ANALYSIS of the lend-lease procedures and techniques now utilized, Gen. Hoag and his associates hope to expedite lend-lease operations between the two countries, especially those dealing with the Canadian government's post-war purchase of various U.S., installations and equipment.

Today Gen. Hoag's party will confer with Col. C. M. Clifford of the Northwest Service Command. The future schedule for the group will be determined by the scope of the job as revealed by today's study.

During World War 2, Gen. Hoag gained wide recognition for his brilliant direction, as commanding general, of Air Transport Command divisions such as the European, the Indo-China, and the African.

The ROAD AHEAD

By Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

TODAY, all over the world, thinking people hope that we have entered the beginning of a Golden Age of eternal peace. But that hope is tempered by the knowledge that never before in history have the peoples of the world been able to enjoy a peace of any notable length. That hope is darkened by the shadow of disagreement which is seen even as the nations of the world gather to attempt to set up a United Nations Organization to which each nation presumably will surrender some of its precious sovereignty.

THAT ORGANIZATION will make laws to bind nations, will set up courts to judge nations, will have at its beck and call powerful armed forces to enforce its laws and the judgments of its courts. But, unless we understand and remove the causes of war, that organization will be as powerless as all previous organizations to keep the peace or prevent war. No law has ever been made which men have not broken, no court has yet been able to hand down, nor enforce, punishments harsh enough to prevent murder, or just enough to prevent men from being murdered.

Today we are busy proving that the German High Command planned and caused World War II. We are busy proving that certain high-placed Japanese war-lords and money-barons caused the war in the Pacific. Everyone is agreed that Hitler and Mussolini, in a megalomaniac dream, planned and finally

Nine Are Arrested In Gambling Raid

Nine persons were arrested Saturday night as city police continued their drive against gambling organizations in the city. It was the third raid this month and brought the total number of arrests on gaming charges to close to the 100-mark.

Jack Hanczar, 10419 98 street, was charged with being the keeper of a gaming house following the raid while the remaining eight were booked as being "found in." Hangzar was released on bail of $500, while bail for the found in's was set at $50 each. They were to appear in city police court Monday.

Led by Detective Sgt. W. Smith, members of the morality squad raided a room at 10363 98 street, where they found one table of poker in play. Approximately $39 was confiscated by police. The raid was carried out at 9 p.m.

Police stated that they were "well satisfied" with the results of the raid. Ninety persons were arrested in the two previous raids carried out.

Appearing in city police court Monday morning, Hanczar was fined $75 and costs or three months on a "keeper" charge, while the eight "found in's" John Lacok, Stypan Ostryzniuk, John Bernachi, Ernie Hicks, Danil Sich, John Warchomy, Philip Leschuk and William ukiwsky, were fined $10 and costs or 14 days each.

THE QUESTION

What is your opinion of proposals to construct 10 subways in this city, in the post-war period?

THE ANSWERS

PHIL GORDON, student: I think it is an excellent idea. Of course, it will be a long time before the 10 of them are built. But there are two or three that should be built without too much delay.

HARRY WILSON, accountant: The sooner we can get some of those subways built the better. No one expects all 10 to be built at once. But some of them should be built without delay.

HARRY CONNORS, trucker: Subways at some of the busy intersections such as on 95 street, certainly would be welcome.

Percy J. Gwynne, a dispatch rider with the Canadian forces in the First Great War, was elected president of Edmonton Branch No. 24 of the Canadian Legion, BESL, at the annual meeting of the branch held Sunday in the Memorial Hall.

MR. GWYNNE SUCCEEDS Harold E. Tanner, who did not stand for re-election to the presidency this year after heading the branch for four successive terms. Gwynne was second vice-president during 1945. Mr. Tanner was elected to the branch executive board.

Election of Gwynne took place in a straight two-man battle for the office with E. "Ted" Brown, former area commandant and chairman of the provincial soldiers' welfare advisory commission.

Percy Cowley, long-time member of the executive, was elected first vice-president, succeeding J. C. Macdonald with Frank Booth, veteran of the Second Great War, chosen for the office of second vice-president, succeeding Percy J. Gwynne.

The nine-member executive board for 1946 will be made up of the following as the result of the balloting Sunday:

Harper Prowse, MLA, H. E. Tanner, Johnny Caine, George Gleave, W. R. McLaren, J. C. Macdonald, A. Riddell, G. S. Scott and Ald. S. Bowcott.

Telephone Unites Mother, Daughter

A Trans-Atlantic telephone conversation Monday morning united a mother and daughter as closely as if they had been conversing telephonically between Calder and the Highlands.

MRS. A. H. DAVIS, 11235 92 St., in three-quarters of an hour contacted her daughter, Mrs. D. C. Begg, wife of a RAF flier in Edinburgh, Scotland. Reception, according to Mrs. Davis, was clear all the way through with her call going through the Montreal switchboard, across to London and then up to Edinburgh.

Mrs. Begg was married here about two years ago. She had tried at Christmas to contact her mother but was unable to do so.

"She said the baby was fine; they'd all had colds but were feeling better, and her hubby was home on leave," Mrs. Davis recalled, still excited, later in the morning.

Burns Are Fatal To Hanna Woman

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

HANNA, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Florence Payne died in the Hanna hospital last week as the result of severe burns suffered when a gasoline lamp in the kitchen of her home ignited and enveloped her in flames.

The wife of Horace E. Payne of the Watts district, she was rushed to hospital, severely injured about the legs and back.

SHE WAS BORN IN London, England, 58 years ago, moving to Castor in 1911 where she was married to Mr. Payne. A year later the couple took up a homestead seven miles west of Hanna where they have since resided.

She is survived in addition to her husband by three sons. Another son, Flt. Lt. leslie Payne, RCAF, was killed in action last year.

"Punch" Dickins Here on Business

C. H. "Punch" Dckins, Montreal, vice-president and general manager, Canadian Pacific Air Lines, arrived in Edmonton Monday in the course of a survey to determine equipment requirements and its allocation for 1946.

He said that present services would be maintained, and that every effort will be made to meet the expanding traffic especially to the northern mining camps.

COMMENTING ON THE Whitehorse-Fairbanks route Mr. Dickens said the traffic on this route was gradually building up, adding that the majority of passengers on the run were going to the mid-west and eastern United States. He said that this traffic, which would normally go down the British Columbia costal route, is now practically assured for the Whitehorse-Fairbanks route thus passing through Edmonton.

Mr. Dickins said the company purchased four Douglas C-47 aircraft last December. These are being converted for commercial use and will be in commercial service within the next two or three months. Their route allocation, he said, had not been determined.

Mr. Dickins will stop over here till Wednesday.

1 Traffic Victim During Week-End

Despite the slippery condition of city streets, only one person was injured in week-end traffic accidents. William McMaster, 9947 104 street, suffered bruises and strained muscles when he was knocked down by a car driven by Dave Wiseman, 10021 114 street. The accident occurred at the intersection of 100 avenue and 104 street.

WISEMAN IS ALLEGED to have been driving west on 100 avenue when the injured man stepped off the curb into the path of his auto. Wiseman told police that he jammed on his brakes, but was unable to stop before knocking McMaster to the street.

The injured man was rushed to the Misericordia hospital for medical attention. The accident was witnessed by Harry McBryan, 9803 104 street.

Writer States Russia's Peace Desire Genuine

Russia's desire for peace cannot be doubted, according to Raymond Arthur Davies, writer on Russian subjects, who arrived in Edmonton over the week-end. He will address a meeting in the Masonic Temple at 8:15 this evening, under the auspices of the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Council. Proceeds are in aid of the Canadian Red Cross.

NOR HAS MR. DAVIES, he said, any doubt that Russian scientists are working on the theory of the atomic bomb and its quantity production.

Everything, he said, is being done to rebuild the country which lost between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 of its citizens in the war.

While in Russia, where he has spent most of the last year, Mr. Davies was correspondent for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, the Mutual Broadcasting System and Toronto Saturday Night. He has also visited Berlin, Turkey, Iran and other countries.

BUT RUSSIA FEARS another armament race with atomic bomb strength as the prize, said Mr. Davies, for such a competition would put a severe strain on the country in the midst of its rehabilitation program.

There is in Russia, he thought, possibly more uranium than in Canada. What has to be developed is not the secret of the bomb, which is a secret no more, but methods of large quantity production.

SYSTEMATIC DEMOLITION by the Germans has reduced Russia to a state of devastation, as evidenced by one city which had a population of more than 100,000 in which only four houses now remain.

But Russia must have oil concessions in the north, he went on, but he thought the difficulties with Iran and Turkey could be adjusted.

Russia could be a good customer for Canada, in Mr. Davies' opinion. Compared with the $70,000,000 export and import business with Russia in 40 years before 1940, there is in Russia a potential market for $200,000,000 of Canadian goods annually, he thinks.

Mother Informed Of Soldier's Death

Less than a week after receiving a letter from her son, Rfn. Victor James Emsley, saying "I'll be home before you know it, mom," Mrs. Anna D. Emslie, 11709 92 street, received a telegram from army headquarters in Ottawa telling of the death of the 20-year-old soldier in a railway accident overseas.

ACCORDING TO official word, the youth was travelling in a troop-train en route from Germany to Holland. The coach he was in overturned into a canal along the line and he suffered fatal injuries.

Member of the Regina Rifles Regiment, Rfn. Emsley in his letter told of being transferred from Germany back to Holland, presumably on the first part of the long trek home.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

What Is Sophistication? Each One Has Definition

Many People Believe That Sophistication Means Being Cynical; Very Young Believe That Sophistication Consists in Breaking All Laws of God and Man

DEAR MISS DIX: What definition covers sophistication from A to Z? It appears that my marriage depends on me suddenly becoming very sophisticated. Three years ago, just as my husband was leaving for overseas, he said to me: "When I return I don't want you to be just as you are now. I want you to be sophisticated." When I asked just what he meant by sophistication, he said he didn't want me to show my feelings. Now he is coming home and, as I strive to please, I would like to know what I have to do to become sophisticated?

WE ARE BOTH in our late twenties and have a family. I am nice-looking, dress well and with taste, am well-educated, don't argue, am a cheerful, happy-go-lucky person, am not a wallflower when we step out, but it seems I won't do. I've got to be sophisticated. And how!

T. M.

ANSWER: Heaven help you, lady. I can't, because sophistication means such different things to different people that there is no authority for what it really connotes. Many people believe that sophistication means being cynical. They think that a sophisticated person is one who doesn't believe in God, or religion, or honor, or honesty, or any of the noble qualities of human nature. They do not believe that any woman is virtuous, or any man faithful to his wife, or that anyone ever does a kind act except to make a gesture. They call this being sophisticated and worldly wise.

BUT THERE are other people who think that only those are sophisticated who have seen so much of life and who have known that what couldn't happen does happen all the time, that they have grown wise and tolerant, with an infinite belief in the power that runs the world and an infinite compassion for all poor, blundering humanity.

The very young believe that sophistication consists in breaking all the laws of God and man. They think it is sophisticated to get drunk, to be immoral, to get money without working for it, to do all the things that will make them broken down old roues before their time.

Which one of these theories of sophistication your husband wishes you to adopt, I don't know, but my guess is that it will not be the one about not showing your feelings so far as he is concerned. He will not want you to change from the warm-hearted, loving woman you are now into a supercilious married woman who has affairs with other men. Superciliousness is not one of the qualities that are good for home consumption.

BUT, ABOVE ALL, let me urge you not to try to change your personality. It never works. None of us look our best in other people's clothes. But, perhaps, since your husband has been up against the realities of life during the three years that he was facing death and danger, he will not be so keen an admirer of artificiality.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been recently discharged from the Navy and I planned my return as a surprise for my wife and baby, but I got the surprise, for I found her in the arms of another sailor. I left the house immediately in utter disgust. I have not heard from her since. I love my wife very much and cannot forgive her infidelity, but for the sake of my child I would be willing to attempt some sort of a patched up affair, but my wife must make the first move.

What is your advice?

EX-GOB.

ANSWER: If you cannot find it in your heart to forgive and forget your wife's conduct, it will be useless for you to try to live together. It will serve no good purpose, for you cannot make a home in which peace and love will prevail, and that is the only sort of home in which a child should be reared.

It will be better for your child to have one parent than two who are always quarreling and fighting and who hate each other, and better for the child to have no home at all than one that is a place of strife.

Perhaps if your wife loves you in spite of her disloyalty, and if she repents her conduct, she will go straight in the future, and you may yet make a happy life together. Many wives forgive erring husbands. Why should not a man be big enough and understanding enough to forgive a woman for stumbling off of the straight and narrow path?

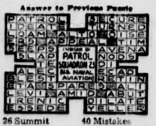
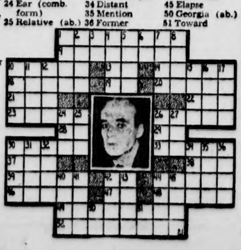
Answer to Previous Puzzle





By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN—

Why Grow Old?

A day in bed, says Josephine Lowman, is ideal for restoring physical and spiritual energy. Even if injury or poor health forces you to be in bed, you can develop interests which will give you pleasure. It looks like a good idea the way Actress Jane Harker does it, doesn't it?

I HAVE JUST finished reading a fascinating book called "The Business of Getting Well," by Marshall Sprague. It is published by the Thomas Y. Crowell Company, New York City.

This book is interesting reading for a perfectly well person because it is written with great humor and the hospital characters it describes seem as real and vivid as those in a best seller novel. It also carries the fascination which hospitals have for all of us and satisfies much of the curiosity they induce in us.

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

However, I mention the book in my column because it seems to me to be an invaluable volume for those who must spend a long time in a hospital or in bed at home. Today a book of this kind gains particular significance because the aftermath of war will necessitate long convalescent periods for thousands of persons.

TO ME, the most exciting thing about the book is its story of mental adjustment and the art of finding exciting new fields for mental and spiritual exploration even though one's physical horizons are unavoidably limited. Although Mr. Sprague, no doubt, suffered much with which he did not burden his reader, he had a whale of a good time while he was in the hospital!

The book highlighted two things in which I believe. First, no matter what our situation is, if we bring an alert mind, a fresh viewpoint, and a little imagination and humor to it, life is always exciting, yest even on a hospital bed! Too many of us get into deadly mental ruts. If we cannot pursue our usual interests it simply never occurs to us to explore new ones! In this way we cut ourselves off from so much stimulation, inspiration and laughter!

THEN, TOO, you know it really is not such an awful thing to have to spend a few weeks in bed. On some days, when life gets thick, I have though it would be a wonderful idea. In this way one is completely and suddenly removed from the complexity of living. Most of us rush off in all directions, dashing here and there, hurried and worried, and what does it get us?

We have no time to explore our own minds, to commune with nature, to think things through, to straighten values out, or to daydream! Yet these are as necessary to the spirit as water is to a flower. They enrich life and give it meaning and they build vibrant personalities and fine health.

I believe that every man and woman needs a day or so of rest in bed each month for best vitality. I often restore physical and spiritual energy in this way.

IF YOU WISH to have my leaflet "Pep" (suggestions for increasing energy), send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 56. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

GOITRE

Goitre is a disease said to have been found in every country in the world, and many theories have been advanced as to its cause. For a long time it was supposed that the absence of iodine in food was responsible for this condition, and this idea undoubtedly has a large measure of truth in it. However, lack of food iodine can not be the sole cause of goitre inasmuch as the disease is present in women about six or eight times as frequently as in men and presumably, both sexes get about the same amount of iodine.

The fact that goitre is prevalent in Switzerland and other mountainous districts where people do not obtain much iodine in their drinking water or feed would seem to prove the theory that the absence of iodine is the principal cause but this still does not explain the occurrence of goitre in districts close to the seashore, where plenty of food iodine is ingested. I believe that at least two factors are at work in producing the enlargement of the thyroid gland known as a goitre; the first factor is the lack of iodine and the second factor is the presence of some cause which interferes with the iodine being properly used by the thyroid gland when it is present in a sufficient amount in the food taken. After studying these causes in which such an enlargement was produced, it seems to me that the most important common cause of goitre is the excessive use of starch.

It is well known that the thyroid gland is slightly larger in women than in men and that during certain periods of a woman's life this gland becomes larger than it is ordinarily. In fact, many goitres in women are associated with some one of the special disorders of women. In about one-sixth of the cases, the accumulation of toxic substances in the thyroid which cause it to become enlarged, must be considered at least a contributing cause.

The thyroid is one of the ductless glands which has provided material for much medical research and probably more is known about the action of the thyroid than of the other endocrine glands, such as the pituitary, adrenals, parathyroid, and gonads. The thyroid gland is situated at the base of the throat in front of the windpipe, is shaped very much like two small kidneys, one at each side and connected across the front. Experiments have shown that it is a regulator of other glands and certainly too much of the thyroid glands will cause a speeding up of metabolism, while too little will slow down metabolism.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

McKenney On Bridge

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
American Card Authority

Sometimes the simplest hand seems to present the biggest problem. While some players, with the South hand, might elect to open the bidding with two spades, I think that most sound, conservative players would prefer the bid of one spade. That was the opening bid at most tables at the recent national tournament at Atlantic City. However, responses by North varied a great deal. At one table North bid one no trump, South then bid three hearts and North bid four hearts. The hand was played there and, of course, seven-odd was made. Many players do not like to respond with a four-card suit, and that was the reason for the one no trump bid by North; but when South jumped to three hearts, North should have taken some strong action. If North bids two hearts over one spade, there is not much difficulty in getting to at least six hearts.

At one table, West overcalled the two-heart bid with three diamonds, and South bid four diamonds; North bid four hearts and South then bid five clubs, showing a control in that suit. Over this North went to six hearts and, of course, South bid seven hearts.

Spinster Pursues "Nice Boy" Bachelor

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 21—(AP)—A 41-year-old bachelor protested in court Friday to being the object of a "41-year-old spinster's affections." Pierson L. Cohn preferred a malicious mischief charge against Esther Ziehm, charging she broke a window in his car to attract his attention. Asked by the judge why she was "bothering Cohen, Miss Ziehm replied: "Because he's a nice boy." The judge suspended sentence on condition she make restitution for the window.

Your Baby And Mine

FOR THE MOTHER who thinks only her children act in certain ways, this column is written for her relief. The family, in such cases, consists of an elder boy and a younger girl, over five years of age. The way they tend to act toward each other gives the mother the idea that never, in their lives, will they be either loving or congenial.

If each has a room of his or her own, neither wants the other to as much as step foot in it. Just the sight of her brother opening the door of her closet or heading toward a dresser drawer will bring forth such cries of agony, as to give the hearer an idea that murder is being committed.

"Don't let him touch my things, Mother! Make him keep out of my closet". Mother has to be on the job every waking moment to keep a semblance of peace between them.

Though both may have suitable toys or games, neither wants the other to have any benefit of them. Playing together might be more fun, but each must cling to his or her own property as if it were sacred. Not all of the time, but most of the time.

IF PEACE is declared and the two sit down for a game of Monopoly or checkers or what have you, then the fun begins. "Mother, she isn't playing fair. Mother, he took my turn. Mother! Mother!"

Neither can ever pass the other without a sly dig in the ribs with a stuck-out elbow, or a soft kick in the shins. Their faces look like angels, but loud screams from the injured party leave no one in any doubt that there is skullduggery afoot. The guilty one has to talk fast and furiously to make good with mother.

BOTH CHILDREN play constantly for the parental attention and devotion. They are, in truth, competitors and like competitors they are not above using dirty tactics to outwit the other.

MOTHERS of two children agree that for the most part this is typical behaviour. Fortunately it is outgrown, for the boy gets too old to pay any attention to the younger girl and later he becomes admiring of her again. Like all things, "this too shall pass."

Our leaflet No. 57, "Children's Quarrels," may be had by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Minute Make-Ups

When you face "your public" you can smile and fix attention on you! But when they get a back view all of their attention is on your unprotected rear! Take a last look before stepping out. Shoe heels and stocking seams must be straight, hair smooth, belt set in proper position, neckline trim. It's worth a lot to take that last look!

Belgium Plans Trade Mission Trip to Canada

BRUSSELS, Jan 21—(CP)—The Belgian government plans to send a trade mission to Canada in the near future to study the Dominion's industrial production with a view to buying large quantities of goods, particularly machine tools, to restore and modernize Belgian factories.

This was stated by government officials visited Saturday by Trade Minister MacKinnon.

The need for large quantities of tools was mentioned both by Ferdinand de Smaele, engineer who heads the Belgian economic ministry, and Ernest de Selliers, formerly attached to the legation in Ottawa and now director of one branch of the finance department.

MOST "GREEK" STATUES ARE NOT GREEK

Most of the so-called Greek statues are not Greek at all, but are Roman. At the time of the Roman invasion of Greece, hundreds of the best Greek statues were carried off and set up in Rome, in the market places; public buildings and prominent places. In time, nearly all of these were broken and destroyed during riots and wars. They were then replaced by Roman statues, which were attempts to copy the Greek ones. This is true of such famous statues as "The Discus Thrower" and "The Head of Pericles," which are often called Greek, while they are actually Roman.

Strike Situation Easier in Canada

CALGARY, Jan. 21.—(CP)—Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, left this advice with the executive of the Calgary Trades and Labor Council Sunday.

"At all times sit down and discuss your grievances with the management. That is much more successful and satisfactory than going on strike first and discussing later." He arrived Saturday evening from Vancouver and left Sunday evening for Regina.

MR. BENGOUGH SAID he didn't think Canada would be troubled with strikes to the same extent as the United States. He pointed out that most of the strikes now being called there were connected with CIO unions, whereas the Trades and Labor Congress is the Canadian counterpart of the AF of L.

Both provincial and federal governments ought to start large-scale public works projects immediately, he said, to take up the slack in employment. Private industry is taking too long to "reconvert" to keep all workers busy.

Senator Marshall Buried at Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 21.—(CP)—Federal, provincial and civic officials were among those attending funeral services Saturday for Senator Duncan McLean Marshall, who died here Wednesday in his 74th year. Senator Arthur Roebuck represented Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Honorary pallbearers included Senator Rupert Davies of Kingston, Ont., and Senator W. A. Buchanan, Lethbridge, Alta. Principal mourners were the widow, and two sons, John of Edmonton, and Duncan of London, Ont. Another so, Bruce, is a squadron leader with the RCAF overseas.

Nurse Secord Returns Home

Six years ago, in the month of March, Miss Isabel Secord, RN. then of the Groote Schuur hospital in Capetown, South Africa, packed her bags and looked forward to coming home, but she has been "living in a suitcase ever since." After all those years of waiting, Edmonton still looked good to Nurse Secord, in spite of a welcoming snowstorm when she arrived in the city over the week-end.

DAUGHTER OF ONE OF Edmonton's best known pioneer families, Mrs. Richard Secord, 9842 105 street, and the late Mr. Secord, she left Africa last summer for England where she waited six months for a boat. Seven weeks ago she left England and made her journey home on a Norwegian cargo ship. Her route took her past the northern part of Brazil, Venezuela, and through the Panama Canal, where she spent last Christmas aboard ship.

"Although we did have traditional Christmas dinner with turkey and trimmings, it was an odd Christmas, for the weather was so beautifully warm and we sat around on the deck, clad very lightly," she said.

THERE ARE MANY beautiful spots in South Africa, according to Miss Secord, but Capetown is her favorite. Of the many and varied interests Africa holds, Miss Secord liked best to travel around the native territories, in her spare time, and found it extremely interesting to see how the different natives lived.

Queried as to the effect the war had had on South Africa, Miss Secord said they were affected only by a few shortages of items like butter, but the rationing system was not even used.

As to the weather? The snow is only present on the mountain tops but "it can get quite cold at times."

MISS SECORD graduated from the University Hospital School of Nursing in 1927, at the head of her class, receiving the gold medal for the highest general proficiency. Then she proceeded to the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, where she took post-graduate work. Following that, she took a post in one of Sir Wilfred Grenfell's famous Labrador hospitals. She has spent the past seven years in South Africa.

Nutritionist City Visitor

Nutrition must be taught so as to arouse the interest of people in it, stresses Miss Anna Burns, nutritionist with the Nutrition Division, Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa, who is in Edmonton, guest at the Macdonald hotel.

COMMENCING Monday she will instruct a refresher course in nutrition at the University of Alberta for members of the Edmonton Home Economics Association, who in turn will spread their knowledge to smaller localities.

No new ideas in nutrition are maintained, but newer trends will be introduced. It is just a new way of saying old things, Miss Burns declared, in an interview with The Edmonton Bulletin, Saturday.

Next week she will leave for Calgary where she will give a few lectures in applied nutrition.

St. John Nursing Division No. 20, meeting at headquarters Tuesday at 8 p.m. Films will be shown.

Elizabeth Woodward Says . . .

TEACHERS DON'T BITE

Teachers are important. You spend six hours a day with them. You wring them dry like so many sponges. And you copy your French teacher's hairdo . . . and practice the lilting laugh of your dramatic coach. If Mr. Carnes smiles at you in the hall, you tread the clouds the whole livelong day. And if Miss Watkins gives you the eagle eye, you're crushed. Teachers take up so much of your time!

Maybe you're scared of yours. They're older. They can pass you or sink you flatter than a left-over pancake. They wield such power. They rule your destiny. They make your knees knock.

Maybe you just tolerate teachers. You have to go to school . . . you have to put up with the teachers. They're part of the system. But like them? Why should you bother?

BELIEVE IT or not, teachers are people! They go out on dates . . . they fall in and out of love . . . they splurge a new hat . . . they see the same movies you do. They won't bite you. They're worth bothering with. You ought to put in as much effort on them as you do friends your own age.

You can be friendly without being familiar. You can please them without polishing the old apple. You can ask their advice . . . and find out what makes them tick . . . without taking up all their free time or poking into their private affairs.

IF THE FRENCH teacher is wearing her frim face today, maybe she got a grim letter from abroad . . . so curb that giggle. And if the dramatic coach is sporting a new sweater . . . she'll appreciate your whispered "pretty" when you pass her in the hall. Miss Watkins may jump at the chance to show you all a thing or two on ice . . . if you ask her to chaperone your free-for-all skate. And Mr. Carres won't turn down an invitation for dinner at your house with your mother and dad and Uncle Joe who's just back from the Pacific.

Teachers like good students . . . they love working with keen minds. They dote on discovering your talents . . . and helping you make the most of them. And they're interested in your problems too. So if your biology notebook isn't finished . . . don't toss in the towel. Explain how very ill your mother was . . . and how you just didn't have a minute . . . and you'll probably get an extension of time. And if algebra looks like alphabet soup to you, make an after-school date with the prof. He won't mind delaying his departure if you really want help.

TEACHERS ENJOY admiration . . . like you do. They appreciate good behaviour . . . like your mother does. They relish co-operation . . . 'cause they have a tough job to do . . . cramming information into your cranium. So why make their job any tougher?

Announce Figures On U.S. Discharges

Speaking as Gen. Dale V. Gaffney's assistant chief of staff in charge of personnel, Col. Lehigh Hunt today revealed figures which dramatically demonstrated the rapidity of personnel reduction effected by the Alaskan Division, Air Transport Command.

Since April 30, 1945, the division has released 8,356 military personnel, both enlisted and commissioned. The bulk of them—7,793—were enlisted men; 563 were officers.

FROM AUGUST, 1945, until the present, 624 civilians have been released. With a further slash in personnel reduction requirements scheduled on Feb. 1, only a small number of enlisted personnel will remain.

When the Alaskan Division's demobilization drive, under the direction of Gen. Gaffney, started on April 30, 1945, the organization had a strength of 9,832 military—8,832 enlisted men, 1,000 officers. As of Jan. 16, 1946, the strength had been cut to 1,039 enlisted men and 437 officers.

Greek Elections Planned For March

ATHENS, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Prime Minister Themistokles Sopnoulis has agreed with right and centre party leaders to hold Greek general elections March 31, but the extreme left wing adopted a resolution yesterday charging the government had not cleared the way for honest balloting. About 150,000 left-wing followers, massed in an Athens Stadium, protested that the government had not restored order necessary for the elections.

Veterans Using Credits to Start New Businesses

Veterans of World War II are taking advantage of their re-establishment credits to set themselves up in business according to figures announced recently by J. W. Proctor, district administrator, department of veterans' affairs, on behalf of the re-establishment credit division of the department.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT shows that 41 businesses are now in operation which were set up by the department out of soldiers' credits. Thirty-two of which are in rural points and nine of them are listed on to state that 29 of the firms as city businesses. The report goes are new and are controlled by the individaul returned man, while 12 of them are on a partnership basis.

Most of the discharged soldiers are using their credits for the purchase of new homes or for furniture, but officials regard the number of veterans using them for business purposes as encouraging.

FIVE OF THE NEW businesses are listed as stores, four of them are pool room and barber shop businesses, and four others are in the restaurant trade. One man is interested in a coal mine, while the list of other businesses ranges from garages to beauty parlors.

Expert appraisers have assessed the value of 550 properties offered to returned men, and have turned their thumbs down on nearly 20 per cent of them, the report says.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S department of the province of Alberta supplied 782 legal instruments, including abstracts of title, writs of execution and other types of forms, free of charge to returned men, which represents a saving to them of nearly $800.00

Adjourn Charge Of Manslaughter

Plane Supplies "Steel Stay-Ins"

LACKAWANNA, N.Y., Jan. 21—(AP)—Airplanes brought supplies to stay-ins at the strikebound Bethlehem Steel Company's Lackawanna plant yesterday and a CIO leader said he would urge a government investigation. Angry pickets, who have picketed the plant since the strike began Jan. 11 as a result of a maintenance dispute, protested loudly as the single-motored planes landed. The strike has kept 11,000 idle. A Bethlehem spokesman denied that strike-breakers were transported in the planes.

Vacant Buildings Urged As Homes for Student Veterans

Two buildings not identified, recently vacated by the Dominion government in Edmonton,, and the American Red Cross recreation centre on 100 street are urged as accommodation for war veterans taking vocational training and prematriculation courses by Edmonton Branch No. 24 of the Canadian Legion.

THE LEGION MEMBERSHIP gave unanimous approval Sunday to a resolution introduced by branch President Percy J. Gwynne, instructing the secretary-manager to urge Ottawa to turn the accommodation over to the war veterans vocational training branch, so that veterans who are residents of Edmonton will not have to take these courses at Red Deer Army barracks or elsewhere at additional expense and inconvenience.

Recently there were strong protests from war veteran trainees ordered to take schooling at Red Deer because of lack of classroom space available in Edmonton.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS centre is scheduled to be vacated shortly. Negotiations are now in progress between War Assets Corp. officials and the City of Edmonton, civic officials having stated they are anxious to secure the building for use as a civic recreation centre.

No details were given concerning the other buildings mentioned in the resolution.

The branch members also approved a resolution urging an amendment to the War Grants Act that would permit all ex-service men and women to be eligible for the 12-months out-of-work benefits if they are unable to obtain employment regardless of whether or not they qualify under terms of the act as it now applies.

IN MOVING this resolution, to be sent to the department of veterans' affairs at Ottawa, Secretary-Manager W. J. Williams, MLA, pointed out there are now close to 1,000 veterans drawing out-of-work benefits in the city.

Many veterans who have taken vocational training courses are unable to find work but under present regulations they are not eligible for either veterans' benefits or unemployment insurance.

Under the War Grants Act veterans must claim the benefits within 18 months after discharge. Most of the courses are of 14 months duration and as a result these veterans are eligible to draw out-of-work benefits for only four months. They cannot apply for unemployment insurance because they have not qualified under the clause stating application must be made within 90 days after they ceased to work at an occupation for which they paid insurance premiums.

Veterans who have worked for American projects are also disqualified from obtaining either kind of benefit.

Plight of these men is now becoming desperate, Mr. Williams said.

He suggested the act be amended to permit unemployed veterans to obtain benefits at any time for a period up to at least five years.

B.C. University Official in City

Surveying medical facilities and medical buildings at the universities throughout Canada and the United States in connection with the $1,500,000 medical faculty extension to the University of British Columbia, Dr. C. E. Dolman, department of biochemistry and preventive medicine, arrived in Edmonton on Saturday.

He conferred here with officials of the University of Alberta and surveyed the medical arts buildings and facilities.

HE SAID THAT THE British Columbia government had made $5,000,000 available for the expansion of the University of B.C., of which $1,500,000 was available for the creation of a new medical arts faculty. A start on the construction would be made this fall.

In the meantime about 100 army huts were being assembled on the campus at the University of British Columbia to accommodate the very large increase in the number of students entering the medical faculty, Dr. Dolman stated.

Following the completion of his survey of medical faculties at Canadian universities in Western Canada, Dr. Dolman will proceed to the United States, and will then travel through to Eastern Canada to complete his survey, the result of which will be reported to the British Columbia government and University of British Columbia authorities.

Funeral Wednesday For Aged Farmer

A funeral service will be conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday for Norman E. Kemp, 75-year-old Sunnyville farmer, who died at his home Sunday morning. The service will be conducted by the Rev. O. R. Lavers, assisted by the Rev. A. Stewart, at Andrews-McLaughlin funeral chapel. Internment will be in the Beechmount cemetery.

BORN IN CARP, ONT., where he was married in 1902, Mr. Kemp moved to Sunnyville in 1903. He became the operator of one of the district's better farms, and took an active part in community affairs. He served four terms on the Sunnyville school board and held other civic offices. He and his wife marked their 43rd wedding anniversary on Christmas Day.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are a son, Wesley, and a daughter, Erna, both at home, and three brothers, Robert of Edmonton, Alfred of Keeler, Sask., and George of Hull, Que.

Natives on the island of Yap use stone money 15 feet in diameter. "Small change" is only six inches wide.

Best Actor

Film star Ray Milland, above, is the choice of New York screen critics as the best actor of 1945 for his performance as the alcoholic in "The Lost Week-End," which they voted the best picture of the year.

P. J. Gwynne

Harper Prowse, MLA, who served with The Loyal Edmonton Regiment.

George Gleave, who served in both Great Wars is also a newcomer to Legion executive activities this year. He is a former member of the Edmonton public school board.

Mr. Prowse is a vice-president of the provincial command of the Legion.

AS SOON AS THE ELECTION of Mr. Gwynne was announced, Mr. Brown asked that the election of President-elect Gwynne be made unanimous and the membership so voted. Similar action was taken at the request of Mr. Gleave who lost out in the balloting for first vice-president to Mr. Cowley.

Mr. Gwynne is at present employed as maintenance engineer and projectionist for the Strand theatre.

BORN IN ENGLAND, he came to Canada at an early age and enlisted with the 66th Bn. of Edmonton soon after the start of the First Great War. He had been a member of the 19th Alberta Dragoons prior to that.

Overseas he was a dispatch rider attached to various units of the 4th Division CEF.

LONG ACTIVE in affairs of war veterans, he is secretary of the rehabilitation committee of the Ex-servicemen's Association and heads a similar committee in the Edmonton Legion branch.

A son, Flt. Lt. W. D. Gwynne, is now serving with Northwest Air Command of the RCAF, after long service overseas with the bomber command.

EACH OF THE ELECTED officers spoke briefly, following the balloting, thanking the members for the support accorded and expressing determination to justify the faith placed in them by their comrades.

R. C. Arthurs served as returning officer for the elections.

Retiring President Tanner in his annual report, stressed the huge increase in branch membership during the past year .

AT THE CLOSE of 1944 Branch No. 24 had 2,436 members. As at December 31, 1945 the paid-up membership stood at 4,400 and there is now about 4,700 members.

Accommodation for this large membership became a real problem during the year just closed he said. As a result the branch purchased the building on Jasper avenue, formerly occupied by the Army and Navy Veterans.

Mr. Tanner said the branch hoped to take possession of the additional accommodation in the near future.

HE MENTIONED the furnishing of a lounge room in the new Col. Mewburn Pavilion for hospitalized war veterans. The room is known as the "Paddy" Griffin Memorial room in honor of the former branch welfare officer who died early in 1945.

Setting up of a sub-section of the branch by women who have served in the forces was also touched on in the report as was the formation of a Legion band under the direction of E. T. Newlove.

Mr. Tanner pointed with pride to the healthy financial condition of the branch treasury, in which there are Victory Bonds having a total value of $34,000.

HE PAID HIGH TRIBUTE to Secretary-Manager W. J. Williams, MLA, Mrs. J. Gray, accountant, and other members of the Legion staff for an excellent job of supervision.

The ladies' auxiliary of the Legion also was commended for their fine work in welcoming war veterans home and other phases of activity on behalf of returned men and women.

Mr. Tanner ended his talk by expressing his belief that the Legion branch enjoys the confidence of the citizens of Edmonton.

He was warmly applauded at the conclusion of his report.

Railwaymen Honor Group On Retirement

A banquet and dance in honor of retiring members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Lodges 793 and 861, was held in the Masonic Temple Saturday night. The affair was attended by about 350 members, wives and guests. The occasion was the organization's first annual banquet and dance ever to be held in Edmonton.

GUEST SPEAKER for the evening was H. A. Friedman, KC, legal advisor to the lodges. During his address Mr. Friedman paid a tribute to the late David Campbell, "a great lawyer and a grand railroad man". The speaker stated that when Mr. Campbell died the railroad workers lost a "great, devoted friend".

In reference to compensation for injuries sustained while on the job, Mr. Friedman said that present laws still do not go far enough in favor of the worker and he is looking forward to the day when a man will be granted full compensation.

THE SPEAKER ALSO declared that it would be of advantage to Canada to take down the "keep out" signs from her shores and hang out the "welcome sign". The speaker said he believed that Canada "could afford a more generous immigration policy".

Mayor Ainlay was present to extend greetings to the out-of-town guests and to extend appreciation to the trainmen for their work.

The chairman, J. Burka, Western Canada field supervisor, B of RT, introduced retiring members to the gathering. Those honored were: George W. Ware, member since 1905; Benjamin G. Worsfold, 1910; Samuel W. Silverwood, 1917. Three others who were unable to attend were: Frank A. Grace, Charles J. Dawes and Howard W. King.

drove all of Europe and the world into the frenzied madness of modern war.

AND WHEN WE have proved all these things we will have not done one thing towards the prevention of future wars. When we have destroyed the German High Command and those power-inspired Japanese who led their peoples out onto the broad, but hazardous paths of world conquest, we will not be one iota nearer to eternal peace. For Hitler, Mussolini, and Tojo and all their followers were but the surface symptoms of something that goes far deeper. They are the outward appearances of an inner disease. They are but the coated tongues of nations which suffered from stomach trouble.

Killing them will not remove the causes of future wars any more than scraping the coating off a tongue will cure the upset stomach. So long as the stomach remains upset another coating will replace the one you scrape away. Just so other men will replace the leaders we are hanging and shooting today unless we remove the inner, underlying causes.

IF WE LOOK BACK through history, if we examine the history of this century alone, we will find that no nation peopled by happy citizens ever started a war. No nation peopled by happy and prosperous citizens could even be made to believe that there was any danger of war—until war suddenly arrived.

Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo were swept into positions of power by unhappy, discontented people. They were supported by slaves, by people who were slaves of their own poverty, misery and starvation. And they kept themselves in power, and increased their power, by promising those slaves something better than they had ever known. Hitler promised the German people that they would be masters of the world and would have the rest of the world's peoples for their slaves. Mussolini made the same promise to his people. Tojo made the same promise to the Japanese.

YET THAT PROMISE was so ridiculous, so criminal, so devoid of humanity that only people who were blinded by their own misery could have believed it. Hitler would have been laughed at in the United States, Mussolini would have been ignored in Canada, and Tojo would have been laughed to scorn in Britain. Because in these three countries the great majority of the people were happy, comfortable, well-fed, able to think with the clear logic which is given only to well-nourished brains.

TO HAVE PEACE we must first of all have the willingness to pay the price of peace. Then we must pay it. We must be willing to sink some of our own self-interest and national welfare in order to lift the standard of living in other countries. We must be willing to go without, if necessary, to insure that the peoples of other lands have as much to eat, as much to wear, as much to look forward to, equality of opportunity with us. We must do whatever is necessary to see that all of the world's people are happy. When we have done this, and not until, we will have lasting peace.

League Again Asks Old Age Pensions of $60

The Social Security League, "a strong organization in all the provinces," is organizing to send an army of women delegates to Ottawa to demand a retirement pension for all of $60 a month at the age of 60 without the means test, Mrs. E. Rogers, president of the Edmonton branch, told a public meeting in the Bonnie Doon community hall Friday evening.

THE MEETING, attended by about 25 residents of the district and other interested individuals, passed a resolution endorsing the delegation. Mrs. Rogers said copies of the resolution would be sent to Premier Ernest Manning and Prime Minister Mackenzie King for their consideration at the next Dominion-provincial conference.

Mrs. Rogers declared that in order to provide security for those who are finishing their life's work and to provide opportunity for those who are beginning their life's work, "we must have a retirement pension at 60."

THE PENSION, she continued, "would be paid out of general revenue the same as are family allowances. If it increased the income to the higher income brackets, it would be taxed back to the government."

"Canada," she asserted, "has the raw materials, labor and technical skill to provide adequate housing, clothing and food for young and old. It would make a billion-dollar home market which would step up production and would make more wealth for all."

A. M. ALLEN, SPEAKING as a member of the Edmonton branch, told the gathering that the pension "paid by the railways after 35 years service in most cases is $35 a month. Trade union men are in favor of a pension for all Canadians."

D. J. Christie was chairman of the meeting.

Mrs. Rogers said Saturday that another meeting will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Calder community hall, with she and Mr. Allen speaking under chairmanship of A. R. McKay.

War Memorial Plans Studied At University

A primary topic for some time among university students has been that of a suitable choice for a university war memorial. Briefs have been presented on the three suggestions; for a gymnasium, a scholarship fund to benefit particularly the families and children who suffered most from the war, and a professorship of peace, an established course in sociology which would teach to every student the basic principles for maintaining peace in the world.

THE FINAL DECISION will be given by a war memorial committee established on the campus.

Some time ago the Students' Council took a vote to determine the preference of that body. The choice was for a gymnasium, closely followed by those favoring scholarships.

On Friday last, members of the Canadian Universities Returned Men's Association took a ballot to find out the preference of that large campus group. Scholarships as a war memorial choice ranked first, with a fairly close count for the gymnasium. The results have been submitted to the central committee. It is expected that a final decision will be reached in February.

DR. AND MRS. M. E. LaZERTE entertained members of the executive of the Education Undergraduate Society of the University of Alberta at a buffet dinner party at their home in Garneau on Thursday evening.

The table was set daintily with a lace cloth, crystal centrepiece and slim blue tapers, the education faculty colors.

Members of the executive present were. president Allan Ronaghan, Madeleine Singer, Bertha Martin, Marian Davenport, Herta Moll, Gwen McGregor, Catharine Pierce, Ralph Omoe, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Searle, and Mr. and Mrs. John Coldwell. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bicknell and Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald LaZerte.

Percheron Assn. Officers Named

Professor J. P. Sackville, university campus, Edmonton, and L. O. Crockett of Mayerthorpe have been elected as the two Alberta directors for the Canadian Percheron Association. Their term of office is for one year,.

Mr. Crockett was also elected to the position of vice-president.

WITH FIGURES QUOTED at the annual meeting it was shown that Ontario had the largest number of members with Alberta second and Saskatchewan third. Alberta had the largest number of registrations of purebred Percherons with 104, Saskatchewan second with 82 and Ontario third with 80.

The association will publish volume two of the Canadian Percheron Stud Book during 1946, and in lieu of the cost of this, has decided to cancel the holding of an annual meeting during 1946.

Stolen Auto Found By City Police

Members of the city police force brought about fast recovery of a car stolen here Saturday evening. The auto, property of F. Zielinski, 137 avenue St. Albert Trail, was taken from downtown Edmonton at 10 p.m. Two and one-half hours later the car had been recovered by city police and turned over to its owner. It was picked up by a police prowler car at 109 street and 85 avenue.
